CENSORS KEEP SCREEN OVER SOUTH CHINA

Word Seeps Through of Conscription and Much Military Movement

SCHOOL SENIORS TAKEN INTO ARMY

HONGKONG, June 10 (AP).—South China teemed with military movements behind a thick screen of censorship tonight.

News restrictions were clamped on both provinces of the Canton Government — Kwangtung and Kwangsi.

But word reached here from Canton through surreptitious channels concerning military conscription of coolies, including women; of the Kwangsi army's arrival at Hengchow, important road junction in Hunan Province to the north; of Government threats to execute speculators in falling Kwangsi bank notes.

SENT WITH WARNING

The soldiers were sent north with South China's warning it would not stand for increasing Japanese military control.

Cantonese militarists confirmed reports that the Kwangsi army had reached Hengchow and said the Kwangtung forces were expected to join it there by midmonth.

In addition to the impressment of coolies, Kwangsi schools were closed without waiting for examinations, seniors were conscripted for war, and juniors were used as propagandists and lecturers.

Canton food prices continued to mount.

ORDERED TO CANTON

LONDON, June 10 (AP). — Dispatches from Hongkong by Reuter's (British) News Agency said that the British gunboats Cicala and Tarantula had been ordered tonight to Canton.

ARRANGING FOR FOOD SUPPLIES

Sending Relief to Settlements as Skeena Emerging From Floods

PRINCE RUPERT, June 10 (CP).—Arrangements tonight were being made here to take food supplies into Terrace and other towns and settlements along the Skeena River which were cut off from outside communication by last week's flood.

The river level is dropping rapidly and temporary train service has been established between Prince Rupert and Kwinitsa, forty-seven miles up the river on the Canadian National Railways line.

NAVIGATE IN PUNT

L. M. Giggey, saw mill operator of Terrace; Peter Lakie, Canadian National Railways division freight and passenger agent, and two Vancouver businessmen came down the Skeena today in an old flat-bottomed punt from Terrace.

In Southwestern British Columbia the Fraser was back below the danger mark again, dropping fifteen inches in twenty-four hours to nineteen feet three inches at Mission.

No official estimate of the total damage caused by the floods throughout the province are available at present, but tentative estimates place the loss at approximately $1,000,000.

Pays Strictly Private Call On Emperor

LONDON, June 10 (CP).—The Duke of Gloucester, the King's brother, paid a "strictly private" visit to Emperor Haile Selassie tonight.

Court circles emphasized the Duke did not visit the Negus as a representative of the King, but merely renewed the acquaintanceship established several years ago. Some political quarters wondered whether tacit recognition by Britain of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia was to be inferred from a court circular announcing the visit.

MAKES MANY SUGGESTIONS

Important Changes to Pensions and War Veterans' Allowance Acts Panned

OTTAWA, June 10 (CP).—Incorporating a number of changes from the original measures amending the Pensions and War Veterans' Allowance Acts, the report of the Commons committee on service men's problems was tabled tonight by Hon. C. G. Power, Minister of Pensions. The bills will be redrafted for presentation shortly to the House.

With regard to the War Veterans' Allowance Act, the name of the administering body is changed to "War Veterans' Allowance Board," and more elasticity is given in the interpretation of the act. Medical opinion will not be relied on exclusively in interpreting the words "permanently unemployable by reason of physical and mental disability."

AGE LIMIT REDUCED

The age limit is reduced to fifty-five, and provision made for "border-line" cases below the age of fifty-five.

The new War Veterans' Assistance Commission will be authorized to ascertain the conditions obtaining among men under fifty-five.

Amendments to the Pensions Act already forecast, provide for additional "ad hoc" commissioners to take care of congestion of applications. The staff of the Pension Commission and the Pension Department will be amalgamated, with the chairman of the commission exercising jurisdiction over his own personnel.

Power of the commission to increase, decrease, cancel or suspend pensions is made more definite.

MUST BE UNANIMOUS

An important element in the amending bill is that where an application from a quorum favorable to the applicant is appealed, the decision of the Appeal Court must be unanimous or the appeal fails. A medical officer is being added to the Appeal Court membership.

The deadline for pension applications for men who served only in Canada and England has been set for July 1, 1936. That for men who served in a theatre of actual war will be January 1, 1940.

FOUR HOLD UP WINNIPEG BANK

Branch Manager Fires Five Shots as Bandits Escape With $300

WINNIPEG, June 10 (CP).—Police tonight launched a widespread search for the four bank bandits who today held up a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada here and escaped with approximately $300 in a hail of revolver bullets as the manager opened fire.

One of the robbers was believed wounded by one of five shots fired by the manager.

The four, thought the same gang which held up the Royal Bank of Canada in Beausejour, Man., last week, entered the bank and ordered Manager S. B. O'Connell and Teller G. T. Carroll into the vault. A customer, W. Quint, entered the bank as the hold-up was in progress and was also forced into the vault.

The bandits failed in their efforts to lock the vault, however, and fled after hurriedly grabbing what money they could from the teller's cage.

The manager bounded from the vault, grabbed his revolver, and opened fire as the men fled to a waiting car.

CATCH GIANT TURTLE

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., June 10 (CP).—Five men and one woman captured a seven-foot turtle on Tuesday and reported that it tipped the scales at 1,500 pounds. The giant creature is five and one-half feet across the back and two feet thick.

Mystery Ship Seen Flying Distress Signals Off South America

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, June 10 (AP).—The British mystery ship Girl Pat, whose queer antics excited African and European ports, was reported today to have been sighted off the coast of South America, flying a distress signal.

The motor vessel is said to be in search of pirate gold. Charges of marine theft have been filed by the British owners of the vessel, but they and underwriters have not been able to catch her. Several adventurous English fishermen were said to be manning the ship.

The steamship Lorraine Cross reported she sighted the Girl Pat yesterday morning forty-seven miles off the coast of French Guiana, heading southwest.

Conservative Leader Refuses Amendment From Government Side

DOUBT THROWN ON DESIRE OF PROVINCES

OTTAWA, June 10 (CP).—Senate division bells rang the death-knell of immediate constitutional reform today when the predominant Conservative majority of the Red Chamber united in a straight party vote to defeat, 40-15, the joint petition to Westminster asking for specific amendments to the British North America Act.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, refused to accept a proposed amendment from the Government side which sought to satisfy objections to the proposal to obtain constitutional power for the provinces to impose indirect taxation. "I am against the amendment and against the address," he declared.

The Conservative leader declared the time had arrived when the Government should come to grips with the problem of provincial expendi-

Boards of Trade Hear Appeal for Island Province

H. D. Twigg Addresses Meeting of Community Representatives at Big Gathering at Qualicum Beach—Says Future Demands New Political Status for Island—Not Partisan Move

(Special to The Colonist)

QUALICUM BEACH, June 10. — Business and professional men of Vancouver Island hold its future welfare in their hands, H. D. Twigg, former member of the Provincial Legislature and now organizer for the Island Provincial Association, told delegates to the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island at a convention dinner here tonight. The large meeting received his address with keen interest.

"Let me assure you to the fullest extent of my ability that this movement has nothing to do with party politics in British Columbia," said Mr. Twigg in referring to the newly-announced association.

"You must remember that poor treatment has been handed out to the Island since 1866. Sir James Douglas, who, by his wisdom created for the Empire the Province of British Columbia, wrote in that year that the union of Vancouver Island and British Columbia should have been the occasion for the funeral firing of minute guns. Before he ended his tenure of office he declared: If there is any tampering with these policies (those of keeping Island and Mainland politically separate) disaster will follow.' That disaster had followed was sure, Mr. Twigg contended, charging gross discrimination against the Island.

PROVINCIAL STATUS

Only through the securing of provincial status for the Island, by constitutional means could the system be righted and the Island saved for the future.

After citing instances of where Vancouver Island had suffered as

BATTLE IN STREET OF SPANISH CITY

Political Factions Bring Machine Guns Into Play in Malaga—Fighting Still Going On

MADRID, June 10 (AP). — Communists and Syndicalists fought a pitched machine gun battle in the streets of Malaga late today, while Spain counted three more dead and unnumbered wounded in politico-strike disorders.

Bullets whined through Malaga's main thoroughfares after two persons had been slain and Socialists had called a general strike.

Police reserves rushed into Malaga from surrounding areas when the rioters brought machine guns into play. The fighting still was going on late tonight.

DENIES RUMORS OF RESIGNATION

Premier Taschereau "Still in Harness"—Two More Measures Passed

QUEBEC, June 10 (CP). — Premier Taschereau today turned aside rumors he had tendered his resignation with the remark he was "still in harness" and agreed in the Quebec Legislature to adopt without discussion the Old-Age Pensions Act and the act amending the Sunday Observance Act.

The Legislative Assembly and the Legislative Council quickly gave second and third readings to the two non-contentious measures.

Earlier this afternoon the Lieutenant-Governor gave Royal sanction to twenty-one minor bills which had been approved by both the Council and the Assembly.

SECTION REPEALED

Under the amendment of the Sunday observance law, the Government repealed the section of the Provincial act which granted persons who observed the seventh day of the week as the Sabbath the right to work on Sunday.

The resignations of Assistant Attorney-General Charles Lanctot and Antoine C. Taschereau brother of the Premier and accountant of the Legislative Assembly, were made known yesterday.

TWENTY KILLED IN ITALIAN TRAIN WRECK

NAPLES, Italy, June 10 (AP).—Twenty persons were killed and 100 injured today when a work train went off the track a few miles from the Naples station. Two of the coaches telescoped while others turned over. The train was running between Naples and Nola.

URGES LIFTING OF SANCTIONS

British Chancellor Suggests Regional Security Pacts Be Organized

LONDON, June 10 (AP).—Lifting of sanctions from Italy and organization of a system of regional security pacts were urged tonight by Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Addressing the 1900 Club, the Chancellor added that before these proposals can be "translated into action, we must take counsel with others, particularly those Dominions whose partnership with us means so much for the influence of the British Empire in the world."

Mr. Chamberlain alluded to the recent circular of Viscount Cecil to members of the League of Nations Union, urging pressure against the Government to pursue sanctions and even intensify them with the object of still preserving the independence of Ethiopia.

HEIGHT OF MADNESS

That the Chancellor declared "is the very Midsummer of madness."

"Such a policy," he added, "would only lead to further misfortunes which would divert our minds as practical men from seeking other, better solutions. The circumstances in which the Italo-Ethiopian dispute began offered a most favorable opportunity to exercise the League policy of collective security, that policy, based on sanctions, has been tried out and has failed.

TIME FOR REVIEW

"It is time the nations composing the League reviewed the situation and decided to limit the functions of the League so that they will accord with its real powers. That would go far to restore the prestige and moral influence of the League, but naturally the League with those limitations could no longer be relied upon by itself to secure the peace of the world."

The Chancellor advocated regional arrangements guaranteed by nations whose interests were virally concerned.

Alberta Indians Protesting Tax

CALGARY, June 10 (CP).—Alberta's 11,000 Indians have entered a protest against paying the new Provincial 2 per cent sales tax. They have asked for a ruling from Ottawa.

The protest is based on age-old treaties exempting the tribes from taxation.

RESIDENTS OF BURNING ANYOX PREPARE TO LEAVE IN BOATS

Forest Fire Creeping Down on North Coast Mining Town—Mine Building at Hidden Creek Gutted and Schoolhouse Destroyed—Vessels Are Standing By in Case of Need

Blazing Forests Sweep Big Area Along Yukon Railroad

VESSELS were standing by last evening ready to remove the entire population of Anyox, as a forest fire raged on the outskirts of the community, according to word received by Provincial Police here. Mine buildings and a large ore crusher and a schoolhouse were reported destroyed by the flames. No one was reported injured.

Communication with the town was cut off from 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon until noon yesterday when flames destroyed telegraph poles and several stretches of wire fell to the ground. A wireless-equipped Provincial Police launch was ready to leave for the town until it was learned several vessels were standing by in case of emergency.

BUILDINGS DESTROYED

According to reports yesterday, the Hidden Creek mining property was completely gutted by fire. The situation was considered fair but still dangerous.

Anyox is a mining town at the head of Observatory Inlet, ninety miles from Prince Rupert. It had a population of more than 2,000 until the mines there closed down last year. At present the population is little more than one hundred.

FIRE NEAR SKAGWAY

JUNEAU, Alaska, June 10 (AP). — A forest fire, burning out of control, swept through an area seven miles wide today on the East Fork of the Skagway River near Glacier Station, about fourteen miles from Skagway on the White Pass-Yukon Railroad.

Hurriedly-mustered fire-fighting crews strove unsuccessfully to check the flames, which raged along both sides of the valley.

Chase Round Car Is Followed by Battle to Death

SAULTE STE. MARIE, Ont., June 10 (CP). — Getting chased around his automobile, at the Sinclair Mine twice by a big black bear was too much for S. Niemie, mine caretaker. On the third trip around he grabbed a convenient axe and turned to do battle with the marauder. He won out. The bear's hide is now tacked up on the wall of a mine building.

PRIMATE OF CANADA HERE

Cardinal Villeneuve Is Welcomed to Coast—Will Be In Victoria Today

VANCOUVER, June 10 (CP). — Roman Catholic clergy and laity tonight were hosts to His Eminence Jean Marie Rodrigue Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec and Primate of Canada, the first Canadian cardinal to travel across the Dominion.

OFFICIALLY WELCOMED

Hundreds of laymen gathered at the railway station to greet His Eminence, who was officially welcomed by many priests and escorted to the Holy Rosary Cathedral by a guard of honor composed of Royal Canadian and British Columbia Police, all mounted.

After saying Mass at the Cathedral, Cardinal Villeneuve visited various Catholic institutions. He will say an early Mass at St. Augustine's Church tomorrow and later leave for Victoria, arriving back in Vancouver on Friday.

Original plans of the tour did not include Victoria, but on arrival here he decided that he could not return to the East without having visited the most westerly see.

TO OPEN CONGRESS

Cardinal Villeneuve will officiate at the opening of the congress on Friday afternoon at the Holy Rosary Cathedral and at Pontifical High Mass at midnight, also at the Cathedral.

His Eminence will preside on the throne at a Pontifical High Mass for children in Stanley Park on Satur-

Nanaimo Girl Wins Medal For Teachers

VANCOUVER, June 10 (CP). — A Vancouver Island girl, Jean Margot Bace, of Nanaimo today was the winner of the Strathcona Trust Gold Medal. It was revealed with the announcement of results of examinations of the Vancouver Normal School. Harold Dark, also of Vancouver, was the other winner of the coveted prize.

Former Premier Critically Ill

OTTAWA, June 10 (CP). — Condition of Hon. J. C. Norris, former Premier of Manitoba and member of the Board of Railway Commissioners, who has been ill in hospital here since Sunday, was described tonight as "fairly good."

Mr. Norris, aged seventy-five, suffered a light hemorrhage of the brain. His progress was regarded as satisfactory, although his condition still remains critical.

Republicans Draft Platform as Landon Strength Increases

Hoover Given Tumultous Ovation at Cleveland Convention—Sound Money Chief Plank in Committee Proposals on Manifesto

CONVENTION HALL, CLEVELAND, June 10 (AP). — With a platform drafted at last, and huge blocs of delegate votes tumbling for Landon, the Republican national convention tonight devoted an hour to an old-time welcome to Herbert Hoover.

The former President stirred the conclave in its first prolonged demonstration tonight when he stepped before it to assail the New Deal as a "muddle" and to demand that it be ousted by a "holy crusade for liberty."

Behind the tumultuous scene that Hoover faced, the final course of the convention itself rapidly was shaped. One after another, the nation's share of the huge and pivotal New York and Pennsylvania delegate blocs were thrown to Governor Landon. Kansas leaders loudly proclaimed that settled it.

The appearance of Hoover touched off the first prolonged demonstration of the convention. As he stepped onto the platform wearing his usual high collar and a conservative dark grey suit, the delegates let loose at fifteen-minute periods of shouting and parading. For the first time, the state standards were seized and carried around the huge hall.

In a sharp excoriation of the New Deal, the former President compared it with the "march of Socialist and Fascist dictatorships" in Europe and called for the American people to enter upon a "holy crusade for liberty."

Further consideration of the plat-

NEW STRIKERS JOINING RANKS

Hotel, Cafe and Restaurant Employees in France Vote For Walkout

PARIS, June 10 (CP). A general strike of hotel, cafe and restaurant employees in the Paris region was voted tonight as a possible cleavage in the Government's Labor majority over the Forty Hour Week Bill was seen.

The new strikers swell the ranks of hundreds of thousands of others who are demanding more money and shorter hours, and all of whom are awaiting Parliamentary decision on the labor bills of Premier Leon Blum before returning to work.

The measures were introduced yesterday and sent to a special Parliamentary committee.

TACKLES MINE STRIKE

Roger Salengro, Minister of the Interior, tackled the strike in northern mines, where workers showed little disposition to end their walkout until new privileges are guaranteed by Parliament.

The five principal demands of strikers were granted on Monday in a general agreement, which included wage increases of from 7 to 15 per cent, recognition of unions and collective bargaining, a forty-hour week and paid vacations.

Northern miners went on strike immediately after the agreement was signed.

Although there were isolated disorders, the strike situation was easier throughout the country.

SAYS TASCHEREAU TO RESIGN TODAY

Montreal Newspaper States Hon. Adelard Godbout to Lead Provincial Election Soon

MONTREAL, June 10 (CP). — The Montreal Gazette tonight publishes the following special dispatch from its Quebec correspondent:

"Definite information this evening is to the following effect:

"Premier Taschereau will step down tomorrow as Prime Minister of Quebec after sixteen years.

"Hon. Adelard Godbout, Minister of Agriculture has consented to replace him as Prime Minister, and will lead the Liberal party in a general election to come almost at once. Some twenty-one days is necessary for a general election. The decision as to the date of a general election will come between now and tomorrow, probably during the day and the result may well be that tomorrow will be the last sitting of the Legislature elected November 25."

McGeer in Tilt With Former Minister on Threat of Inflation

Vancouver Mayor and Ex-Secretary of State Cahan Mince No Words in Lively Argument Over Country's Financial Problems

OTTAWA, June 10 (CP).—Two men as far apart as the poles in their monetary beliefs, Charles Hazlett Cahan, Secretary of State in the Bennett Administration, and Gerald Grattan McGeer, financial reformer from Vancouver, crossed swords in the House of Commons today.

The buttons were off the foils from the start, with the Montrealer accusing the British Columbia Liberal of advancing half-baked financial ideas, which eventually would lead to wildcat inflation and ruin for the country.

BRINK OF DISASTER

The man from the Far West, just as Celtic as his name indicates, came back in kind, accusing Mr. Cahan of avoiding facts, entertaining false promises and continuing support to a system that has brought Canada to the brink of disaster.

The former Cabinet minister sounded a rally call for men to stand together against inflation, which, he believed, was moving fast into the centre of the political stage in Canada.

"Men on either side of the House," exclaimed Mr. Cahan, "who take a conservative view, not in a political sense, but a conservative and perhaps traditional view, must be prepared to advocate what they believe to be sound and sane national policies with regard to monetary matters, whether it cuts athwart their own political party or the political party on the other side."

PERILS OF INFLATION

By references to post-war Germany and other instances in history, Mr. Cahan pointed to the perils of inflation, which he believed left misery, disaster and ruin in its wake. In his judgment, inflation or no inflation rapidly was becoming a major question in Canada and he promised to do everything possible to stop the printing presses.

Back came Mr. McGeer, accusing him of casting sneers and jeers because he could not meet his arguments in favor of a managed currency and a central bank that would issue currency and credit in terms of public needs, not for private gain.

Inflation was not his remedy, said Mr. McGeer. "What I do say is that within the limits of our gold reserves, our gold production, our legal tender currency and our practice of creating an effective bank credit transferable by cheque, there is more money available than is necessary to finance the Government without a disastrous imposition of taxation."

FEARS FOR FUTURE

"When I hear arguments of the kind we have had to listen to today, applauded by members of this House," exclaimed Mr. McGeer later, "I fear for the future of the people of Canada. The time has come when men must deal, not in specious arguments that start nowhere and end behind where they started, but they must deal with a constructive programme."

If inflationary proposals now being advanced were adopted, they would reduce the value of the Canadian dollar to a few cents. They would reduce the value of all savings, all salaries, all wages, all pensions, while increasing the cost of the necessities of life, said Mr. Cahan. It would place four-fifths of the people now self-supporting on Government relief or charity.

PETITION PUT OUT OF QUESTION BY SENATE

tures for social services they could not afford and relief of unemployed who refused to work.

The joint address, which was adopted in the House of Commons without division, was a petition to the British Parliament to amend the British North America Act in two respects. One clause sought power for the provinces to impose sales taxes on certain classes of commodities; the other to provide necessary power for the Minister of Finance to set up provincial loan councils.

DIRECT TAXES ONLY

Under the constitution provinces may impose only direct taxes and the indirect taxation field is restricted to the Dominion. Certain forms of indirect taxation, such as those on luxuries and entertainment, are already being imposed, but subject to challenge on constitutional grounds.

There was little debate on the loan council phase of the address, but Hon. Raoul Dandurand, Government leader, declared from the first that no motion could be accepted that would take anything away from the address. Defeat of the amendment by a recorded vote was followed by rejection of the address on the same division.

Opposition to the address had been based mainly on the conviction expressed by Mr. Meighen that to legalize imposition of indirect taxation by the provinces would be to make it possible for each province to set up what would be an effective tariff wall about itself and lead to disintegration of the Dominion.

Today Senator Meighen went farther and launched a bitter attack on the conditions which had led to provinces entering into heavy expenditures for social services beyond their power to pay, imposition of taxes which a great number of people could not pay, and sustaining unemployed who would not work.

Other senators on the Conservative side raised the question whether the provinces really desired the constitutional changes, declaring that no concrete evidence had been laid before them that such an agreement existed.

RADIO DIN DEPLORED

Norman Wilks, of Toronto Conservatory, Gives Views On Synthetic Music

"I am heartily in favor of anything that will detract the individual from radio music to the first-hand performance," declared Norman Wilks, examiner of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, who has been here for the past few days setting examinations.

"Because of this, I think all true musicians and lovers of music should feel a deep debt of gratitude to those hard-working officials who make music festivals possible," the noted pianist asserted.

"Unquestionably the music festivals have done much to draw individuals back to first-hand music. Anything second-hand in music is to be deplored, when it is accepted as radio music is received in the average home. Why on earth people will insist upon turning on radios, and then immediately starting a conversation, I do not know. If they only would listen they might be induced to devote more serious attention to musical performances when they are given in person," he stated.

HELP ARTISTS

The festivals had been of considerable assistance to artists, who found they were able to give better interpretation when playing to an audience. On the other hand, the festival could not be accepted as a final judge of musicianship, as many good musicians quailed before large audiences, but did their best work in an examination room or before smaller audiences. There was a tendency on the part of festival entrants, too, to secure first place, rather than to enter for the sheer enjoyment of such musical festivals, which, after all, were but musical feasts, as the name implied, he said.

Mr. Wilks is an outstanding concert artist. He was with the R.C. of M. for eight years; was guest artist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra; studied under Schnabel, noted exponent of Beethoven, in Berlin; and was with the Brussels Conservatory of Music for some time. Mr. Wilks left for the East last night.

BOARD OF STUDIES

Speaking before a group of music teachers last evening, at a meeting held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Johns, Mr. Wilks said that the Toronto Conservatory had recently started a board of studies with twenty-five members. They were already engaged on the working out of a new syllabus, some of the probable changes in which were hinted in the speakers' remarks.

Some very valuable advice was given teachers on the matter of technique, sight reading, ear tests, the teaching of very small children, the teaching of the pedal, staccato playing and many other points.

"The main thing in teaching children music is not just to get them ready to pass examinations, but to stimulate and keep their imagination alive," he warned the teachers. The child whose imagination was alive would almost inevitably get good marks in examinations, because they would show that they enjoyed playing, would give something out, and would interest the examiner. The examiner could only mark on what he heard.

Discussing nervousness in candidates, Mr. Wilks thought paralyzing nervousness arose not so much from being nervous as from the fact that the candidate did not know his work. Teachers could help the pupil in this respect by giving the child only work which it could really do. Failure in examination tended to discourage a child and bring about a lack of interest in music. Much of the dislike found for Bach among grown-ups could be traced to dislike developed in childhood by giving the child Bach before it was sufficiently advanced to play his works.

Prospect Appears Bright For Saanich Fruit Farms

KEATING, June 10.—Captain E. Livesay, newly appointed manager of the Holsum Packing Company and manager of the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association, outlined the prospects for the coming season at a well-attended meeting in the Temperance Hall at Keating, Monday night, at 8 o'clock.

According to Captain Livesay, prospects for the marketing of this year's fruit crop are fairly bright, although he gave a word of warning to the growers, stressing particularly the need of their working together.

WINE COMPETITION

The fact that large quantities of immature or inferior grape wine is at present on the market and selling at a reduced price in competition with fully matured loganberry wine of local manufacture, is a situation bound to affect the price of this latter product and indirectly the price of loganberries in the near future, said Mr. Livesay. The wineries will not require any loganberries this Summer. The minimum wage is another factor, bound to affect the returns on this crop. However, with crop conditions very poor in some localities, which will mean a demand for Saanich fruit, there should be no difficulty in disposing of what might otherwise be a surplus. Offers of 5 cents per pound have already been turned down, as it is believed that more can be secured.

The dumping duty, which has only just been applied, will take care of a possibly disastrous influx of fruit from the United States, although this year it will be but 22 per cent of last year.

STRAWBERRY CROP

Regarding the strawberry crop, which is a fairly good one, although picking has been considerably delayed by late rains, it is expected a ready market will be found. Shipments will be made to the Prairies in any case, as this year's vines carry a great many large berries and these are not desirable for the sulphur dioxide process. The Mainland, which last year glutted the Prairie market with 600 tons of this fruit, has a 30 per cent lower crop. The bulk of this crop will be processed for the Great Britain market.

There is usually little trouble in marketing the raspberry crop, and 10c per pound is expected in the face of good conditions here, compared with 35 to 40 per cent damage on the Mainland.

There is considerable brown rot attacking cherry orchards this year and growers were advised to spray their trees with Bordeaux mixture to prevent serious damage.

Prices for picking were quoted as being 30c per crate for strawberries, 1 1-4c per pound for jam strawberries and 1c per pound for loganberries.

SUSPEND NEGOTIATIONS

Negotiations between the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association and directors of the Holsum Packing Company for the purchase of the Holsum Packing Company by the association, have been temporarily suspended. Due to certain legal technicalities standing in the way of such negotiations, the matter of further action on the part of growers has been referred to a committee of three for a report.

It was decided last night that due to the lateness of the season nothing further would be done in this regrad.

HEAR APPEAL FOR ISLAND PROVINCE

the result of alleged "extravagant expenditures on the Mainland demanded by the political control there," the speaker declared it was the Island's right to protest, "to break away."

He appealed to the business leaders to seriously consider the movement under way, which, he claimed, would mean Vancouver Island would have its revenue spent fairly on itself, and asked them to help foster the cause.

A better deal for the Island was imperative, whatever way it was to be obtained.

"It is your duty to do something for yourself, your children and your children's children. This is no revolution. We feel we have the right to govern ourselves. We feel the needs of Vancouver Island and realize they are quite different from those of the Mainland."

BOTH WOULD BENEFIT

Not only the Island, but the Mainland would benefit from the "break away," Mr. Twigg contended. He claimed, with Vancouver Island no longer a source from which to obtain easy money for extravagant distribution elsewhere, the British Columbia Government would change its policy of extravagance.

Just what steps will or can be taken to establish a provincial government on Vancouver Island, Mr. Twigg was not ready to say, but before anything could be done for the Island, he stressed everyone must become "Island conscious."

For the exploitation of natural resources at the various centres on Vancouver Island, what have those communities received? he asked. As he put the question to delegates from the centres one by one, he was answered: "Nothing."

"If the Island had possessed the power to stop extravagant expenditure on the Mainland, for which it had to pay one-third, do you think it would not have done so?" he continued.

ISLAND IS BURDENED

Neither in roads nor in public buildings had the Island been treated fairly, he asserted, while pointing out that Vancouver alone had received lavish gifts of great numbers. The result was that Vancouver Island was burdened with debt for which it received nothing.

Reeve William Crouch, of Saanich, told the meeting he was prepared to work for the benefit of the Island, as all should. However, he said he was not prepared to say at present that he would like to see a separation from the Province.

Harold Husband, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, expressed the hope the convention would work toward having the Island roads improved to encourage tourists to stay here this year.

W. T. Straith, president of the convention, said many problems vital to the Island would be discussed.

TRUSTEES TO SEEK VOICE IN CHANGES

Victoria School Board to Send Petition to Department of Education

CURRICULA REVISION PLANNED NEXT YEAR

Impressed by arguments of Trustee Percy E. George, six members of Victoria School Board decided last evening they should have a voice in high school curricula changes planned by the Department of Education next January. Trustee Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin did not agree with the others.

After a lengthy debate, during which Municipal Inspector George H. Deane also aired his views, the following resolution was passed to be forwarded to the Provincial Department of Education:

"This board respectfully submits that in connection with the new arrangement, or change, in the high school curricula, provision be made for students wishing to take a modified course or complete matriculation in three years."

"There are too many subjects on the curriculum at Victoria High School. As a result, children are tired and sick and not fit for work when they leave school," Trustee George declared. "I fear we will have a four-year high school term with no say in the matter, and it will cost taxpayers more," he added.

RAISES QUESTION

"Are we going to accept the situation without voicing any opinions?" Trustee George asked. "Why doesn't the Department of Education work out a three-year term fitted to the average pupil. The average pupil does not want a four-year term. We owe it to the citizens to make some representation to the department," he asserted.

Inspector Deane told trustees there was at present a "leaving course" at high school that did not lead up to university entrance, but fitted students to be good citizens. He said only a small percentage of students were able to matriculate in three years' time, and most of them spread the work out over a period of four years. He did not think a regular four-year course would cost much extra. Trustee George proposed the resolution, and it was seconded by Trustee Kenneth Ferguson.

General accounts for May totaling $3,424.77 and salaries amounting to $40,620.23 were passed. Reports showed $237,225.99 had been spent on schools, as against $229,536.94 for the corresponding period last year. Estimates for the year are $492,520. May attendance at all city schools totaled 5,127, compared with 5,240 in May, 1935.

DELEGATION HEARD

With a request that an eighth grade class be established at Burnside School, a delegation of parents appeared with a petition. They took strenuous opposition to the school board plan to transfer seventh grade children to North Ward School when they pass into eighth grade. Trustees promised to investigate and grant the request if possible.

Trustee Mrs. MacLaurin raised the question of closing North Ward School. The board secretary declared the city building inspector had visited the premises recently and reported they were good for many more years. Extensive repairs to the school will be carried out before next Winter.

Trustees decided to give preference to males when filling future vacancies on the janitorial staff.

CATCHES TUNA WITH PRIMITIVE TACKLE

BEACH HAVEN, N.J., June 10 (AP).—George Rambo caught a nineteen-pound tuna with bare hands today as the fish came close to shore. Rambo said he noticed the fish swimming along, ran out into the water up to his knees, grabbed it by the tail and tossed it upon the beach.

RAISES BOGEY OF ANNEXATION

Senator Warns Amending Constitution Might Cause Provinces to Join U.S.

OTTAWA, June 10 (CP).—Warning that any steps to give the Dominion Parliament the right to amend the Canadian Constitution might cause a union of some of the provinces with the United States today was sounded in the Senate by Hon. O. Turgeon (Liberal, Gloucester).

There was a growing desire in the republic to bring Canada into the autonomy of the United States, the veteran parliamentarian declared. "But," he stated, "Canada's material links with Great Britain must be maintained."

IN RESUMED DEBATE

Senator Turgeon was speaking in the resumed debate on the inquiry of Senator George Lynch-Staunton (Conservative, Hamilton) whether the Government proposed to seek power from the Imperial Parliament to amend the British North America Act, Canada's Constitution.

The British North America Act was a "sacred contract" between the Dominion and the provinces. He did not believe the provinces would endorse any proposal that the Dominion Parliament should have power to amend the Constitution.

BEATTY GIVEN DEGREE

NEW YORK, June 10 (CP).—New York University today conferred an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws on Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway and chancellor of McGill University.

Presbyterianism begin in Montreal one hundred and fifty years ago, when some Scottish traders and soldiers formed a congregation of the Calvinistic type. For some years they met in Recollet Hall, a building voluntarily placed at their disposal by the Recollet Fathers, a Roman Catholic order. It is reported that when they gave up the hall for the Gabriel Street Church, the Presbyterian brethren gave to their generous hosts two hogsheads of Spanish wine and a box of candles.

I think there is success in all honest endeavor and that there is some victory gained in every gallant struggle that is made.—Dickens.

Let Us Organize a Shower for the Bride

Don't let the shower for your bridal friend be another of those haphazard affairs . . . let everybody combine to give her a complete selection of useful articles. There is a special department here with a manageress in charge. She will know what has already been purchased, and from this huge stock she will be able to advise you what to buy so that your present will be "different." This is the new, modern way of organizing a bridal shower.

Here Are a Few Suggestions

Hundreds of Bank Officials Invade City From Seattle

More Than 1,200 Delegates to Convention Entertained at Empress Hotel—Shops Crowded—Social Credit and Housing Act Deplored

APPROXIMATELY twelve hundred bank officials and their friends invaded Victoria yesterday evening. Coming here from the convention of the American Institute of Banking, now in session in Seattle, hundreds of visitors made a hurried visit up town to see the shops, and the nearest approach that one could get to a discussion on economics was the price of woolens, linen fabrics, or the best kind of Canadian cigarettes to buy.

Not one delegate would give an interview, explaining they were not in a position to discuss economic matters, this being confined purely to members of the American Bankers' Association, the parent body, which meets in San Francisco this Summer.

SCOTCH WELCOME

The delegates came to Victoria on a specially chartered ship, the Princess Marguerite, and dined at the Empress Hotel, headquarters for the delegates during their brief stay. They were met at the boat by Miss Lillian Grant, Scotch piper, and her two companions, Miss Jessie Pollock and Miss Ina Robertson. Hundreds of photographs of them were taken. The trio also welcomed the delegates at the Empress Hotel, where dinner was served in the crystal ballroom, the grill and one of the larger private dining-rooms.

Mayor David Leeming officially welcomed the delegates in a brief talk to those attending the dinner. He reviewed Victoria's history, and invited the delegates back to this city for its diamond jubilee celebration next year.

Maynard W. E. Park, of Seattle, president of the institute, explained that the organization was purely an educational one, when asked for an interview. He explained that in view of this he was not in a position to be quoted. Henry Verdelin, vice-president of the Federal Reserve Bank, Kansas, accompanied Mr. Park as vice-president of the institute. Mr. Verdelin has been chosen as next year's president.

DISCUSS ADDRESS

Delegates showed considerable interest in the address by Lyman E. Wakefield, president of the First National Bank & Trust Company, Minneapolis.

In addressing the delegates, many of whom some day may be presidents of banking institutions, Mr. Wakefield said:

"In the face of the subtle propaganda being broadcast today, it is hard for even clear thinking men to think clearly, yet that is our responsibility. It is important that we diligently seek out the facts and refrain from jumping at conclusions."

When citing the economic experiment into "social credit" as an example of loose economic thinking "inaugurated by a preacher with political aspirations," Mr. Wakefield stated:

SOCIAL CREDIT

"His party (Aberhart) promised every resident of the Province of Alberta $25 a month out of the Provincial Treasury without a call for work or the production of goods. What has happened?" he asked. "His party has been in power for many months. Nobody has received $25 a month. Instead, the Province is bankrupt, because its destiny was placed in the hands of a loose thinker, whose chief ability lay in the field of elocution."

Of the Dominion's Housing Act, and similar legislation proposed by the Washington Government, Mr. Wakefield said: "It is not desirable, in the interest of either borrower or lender, to lend 80 per cent of the value of a home. And the mere fact that government tells a banker he may do so is not necessarily a warrant for the banker to make such a loan."

E. C. Johnson, of the American Trust Company, San Francisco, discussed the development in San Francisco now taking place as the two bay bridges near completion. The San Francisco-Oakland bridge will be ready for motor traffic by November, he declared.

This bridge will have a separate deck for trains, and San Francisco is now constructing a new railway terminal, at last realizing her ambition to be the Pacific end of transcontinental railway systems, an advantage at present enjoyed by Oakland. The ferry boats, which make the harbor picturesque, will not disappear altogether, he believed. They would be used, he thought, for the carrying of freight trucks.

SHOWERS HERE ARE FORECAST

Too Much Rain May Spoil Berries—Other Crops Reap Benefit

Scattered showers again are forecast for today by the Gonzales weather bureau, bringing with them some alarm that the strawberry crop may be spoiled if the inclement weather lasts much longer.

Some fine, sunny days would ripen the crops, but if rain continues, the berries will go mouldy.

A total of 1.22 inches of rain has fallen so far this month, which is the wettest June period for many years. The maximum temperature still hovers around 64, making ideal growing weather.

Raspberries and loganberries are finding the wet weather beneficial, while owners of truck gardens also appreciate the weather with the exception of those who find their potatoes "going to tops," or too much foliage.

NANAIMO LOSING LADY TEACHERS

Two Resign in View of Approaching Marriage—Building Committee Calling for Tenders

NANAIMO, June 10.—That Cupid has been working at Nanaimo schools was revealed at a meeting of the Board of School Trustees tonight, when the resignations of Miss Nellie Rogers and Miss E. Monkman were read and it was stated that both are near-future brides. "There is another wedding coming up," one of the trustees remarked, while another said that it looked as if the depression was over. As it was the last board meeting before the Summer holidays, on motion of Alderman Kerr, the board instructed the building committee to call for tenders for work contemplated on the schools.

On motion of Trustee Barsby, school teachers will receive a letter of appreciation and praise for their work in preparing group entries for the Empire Day parade.

TEACHERS REINSTATED

The following teachers, who were appointed for one year and whose terms had expired, were reinstated for another year: J. H. Grant, Miss A. Kenyon, J. O. Swan and Miss Verna Galloway.

A letter from the British Columbia Safety League branch in Vancouver, asking for an annual fee of fifteen dollars to advance the work of teaching pupils to prevent accidents by fire and drowning, etc., was ordered filed.

Miss Verna Boal, Ontario exchange teacher, thanked the board for granting a leave of absence which enabled her to visit Coast schools, including those of Seattle.

The district health association will send representatives to a convention of health and nursing organizations to be held in Vancouver on June 22, John Shaw, chairman of the board, stated in commenting on a letter read from Dr. Young, suggesting that the school nurse be sent. The board is now receiving applications for next year's senior matriculation class.

Obituary

RITCH—At St. Joseph's Hospital, the death occurred Tuesday of Daisy Ethel Ritch, wife of G. R. Ritch, of 336 Richmond Avenue, aged thirty-eight years. She was born in Berkshire, England, and is survived by her husband, two sons, George and Beverly Gilbert; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Andrews, 1920 Haultain Street; one brother, Walter Andrews, 1807 Chandler Avenue, and one sister, Mrs. J. P. Holmes, Gordon Head. The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Sands Mortuary Chapel, Rev. F. W. Weaver officiating. The remains will be laid at rest in Colwood Burial Park.

DURHAM—The funeral of Anthony Durham, who passed away last Saturday, took place Tuesday afternoon. Relatives and many sympathizing friends attended the impressive service conducted by Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson. The casket was covered and surrounded with many beautiful flowers, which bore testimony of the popularity of Mr. Durham. The congregational hymns sung were "Abide With Me" and "The Sands of Time Are Sinking." Mrs. S. M. Morton sang the solo "God Will Take Care of You." The following acted as pallbearers: E. Leckie, G. Leckie, H. Petticrew, J. Petticrew, G. Allen and A. Johnston. The remains were laid at rest in Colwood Burial Park.

DOWDS—At St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday the death occurred of Mrs. Ann Maria Tanner Dowds, aged seventy-four years. She was born in Kirkcaldy, Scotland, and had been a resident of this city for the past twenty-five years, her late residence being the Field Apartments. Mrs. Dowds is survived by one son, James C. Dowds, 3208 Shelbourne Street; one sister-in-law, Mrs. J. C. Motion; two nieces, Mrs. D. Thomson and Miss Margaret Motion, and one nephew, George Motion, all of Victoria; a brother, George Motion, in Kirkcaldy, Scotland, and a sister, Mrs. Isabella Robinson in London, England. The funeral will take place on Friday at 3:30 p.m. in Sands Mortuary, Ltd., Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson will officiate and the remains will be laid at rest in Colwood Burial Park.

BYRNE—Mass was celebrated at St. Andrew's Cathedral yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock over the remains of Joseph Patrick Byrne, who passed away on June 5. Rev. C. T. Albury conducted the services, after which the remains were laid at rest in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery. The pallbearers were: M. McDonald, W. Grimm, W. G. Owen, Joe Haley, J. O'Connell and W. W. Baines.

ROBB—At the Royal Jubilee Hospital on Tuesday the death occurred of John Wesley Robb, aged fifty-five years, of 264 Beechwood Avenue. Mr. Robb was born in Paisley, Bruce County, Ontario, and had resided in this city for the last two months, coming from Tisdale, Saskatchewan, where he had been resident for many years. He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Misses Beulah and Evelyn, of Saskatchewan; also four sisters in Ontario. The remains are resting at McCall Bros' Funeral Home pending funeral arrangements, which will be announced upon arrival of Mr. Robb's daughters from Saskatchewan.

KERMODE—The funeral of Mrs. Francis Kermode will be held at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel this afternoon at 3:15, Rev. Dr. Clem Davies conducting the service. Interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

BLOOR—There was a large attendance of sympathizing friends at the funeral of Samson Bloor, held yesterday afternoon, Rev. Canon Chadwick officiating. The hymns sung were "Rock of Ages" and "Peace, Perfect Peace." Beautiful floral tributes were received, testifying to the high esteem in which the deceased was held. The following were the pallbearers: W. Fanthorpe, G. Schwabe, R. A. Steel, G. W. Brown, Captain J. L. Newcomb and Captain J. F. Olson. The remains were laid at rest in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

MECREDY—Funeral services for Mrs. Christina Mecredy will be held in Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel this afternoon at 2 o'clock, Very Rev. C. S. Quainton, Dean of Columbia, officiating. Interment will be made in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

BAYLES—Many sorrowing friends attended the funeral services, held yesterday afternoon for Mrs. Clara Baiyes, Rev. E. F. Church officiating, assisted by Rev. A. M. Acheson-Lyle. Two hymns, "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" were sung. Beautiful floral offerings were received. After the service, the remains were forwarded to Vancouver for cremation.

HOWARD—Funeral services for Rev. W. J. Howard, B.A., B.D., 3176 Orillia Street, who died suddenly on Tuesday afternoon, will be held at 3 o'clock on Friday afternoon at McCall Bros' Funeral Home. Rev. C. G. MacKenzie will officiate and interment will be made in Colwood Burial Park.

ARRESTED FOR HAVING REVOLVER IN HIS CAR

TORONTO, June 10 (CP)—Milton M. Connell, twenty-eight, Los Angeles, was arrested today on a charge of having a revolver. THE NATION'S REGULATOR

DR. TOLMIE IS HONORED

Victoria Conservatives Preparing for B.C. Convention And Next Poll

Greatly encouraged by two successive victories in Victoria within eight months, the executive of the Victoria Conservative Association gave Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie a rousing welcome last evening at the Conservative Rooms, Campbell Building, with President E. W. Maynard in the chair.

Reciprocating, Victoria's member-elect in the House of Commons expressed his sincere thanks to F. A. Willis, his campaign manager, and to all officers and members of the association for their splendid support in the intensive two-week campaign, leading to victory at the polls, on Monday last.

EYES ON B.C.

Aggressive plans were laid to consolidate the Conservative organization in Victoria, in view of a provincial election which may occur at any time within the next year or eighteen months. At that test, it was stressed, the issue would rest between Conservatives and the C.C.F., and would have to be recognized as such.

At a meeting devoted mainly to organization affairs, Victoria Conservatives made arrangements to send forty-eight delegates to the provincial convention of the party, to be held at Vancouver on June 29 and 30. Choice of a provincial leader and adoption of a provincial platform would be the chief business before the convention, it was said.

DR. TOLMIE LAUDED

R. A. Wootton, vice-president of the British Columbia Association; R. D. Harvey, vice-president of the Victoria Association; Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P., Canon Joshua Hinchliffe, F. A. Willis, campaign manager and secretary, and many others joined in the expression of hearty congratulations to Dr. Tolmie in carrying the party's colors to victory in the three-cornered Federal contest called without warning, here.

Replying, Dr. Tolmie said he would work in the best interests of Victoria, and hoped for the co-operation of all citizens to that end.

The executive will meet again on July 8.

BIGGEST ARMY IN THE WORLD

Russian Air Equipment Up To Minute but Lacks Trained Personnel

Boasting 125,000 permanent troops, the Russian standing army is one of the largest in the world today, while its air force, up to the minute in all mechanical details and as regards the numbers of its equipment suffers from a lack of properly-trained personnel. Such was the statement of Colonel Teng Wen-yi, Chinese military attache to the U.S.S.R. at Moscow, who sailed for China last night in the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia.

Russians, the Chinese colonel, graduate of Canton Military Academy, declared, have not yet bridged the gap between the prerevolution feudal form of life and the modern life of technological development, but they are making steady progress in that direction.

Asked if Russia is viewing with alarm the quick inroads that the Japanese are making into North China by systematic annexation of territory by military invasion, Colonel Teng replied, "You hear very little talk of it in Russia." The vast country is ready to defend itself, he said, however, and would stand no tampering with its own borders by any power.

Colonel Teng is on three months' leave and will return to Russia by the Eastern route. He came home via Europe, the United States and Canada, he said, "for personal reasons."

DRAWS FINE FOR SUPPLYING LIQUOR

LADYSMITH, June 9.—William "Jerry" Alston, of Chemainus, charged with illegally supplying liquor to Joseph Ruben, an Indian, was tried before Stipendary Magistrate G. A. Tisdall, of Duncan, here today and convicted.

He was sentenced to the minimum under the act, a fine of $50 and costs, with the alternative of three months' imprisonment. Two sureties to cover the fine and costs were entered in court.

The case evoked considerable interest, as the Indian involved, Joseph Ruben, was killed on the E. & N. Railway near Chemainus on Sunday, May 24, while it is alleged in a state of complete intoxication.

F. Castillou was defence counsel, while Provincial Constable Service, of Chemainus, conducted the Crown case. In passing sentence, Magistrate Tisdall commented that the tragic sequence to the offence, the death of Ruben, was not included in the consideration of the trial. He felt, however, that the occurrence of the tragedy would have a salutory effect on the conscience of the accused. He thereupon imposed the minimum sentence.

POLITICAL CONTROL

Mr. C. D. Howe, the Federal Minister of Railways, hardly contemplates what he is undertaking under the new system of political control of the Canadian National Railways. He is a newcomer to politics, and is, in a measure at least, unversed in the ways of political patronage. Under the proposed plan he is to be the last court of appeal in the affairs of the national railway system. He must make up his mind to withstand considerable political pressure if, as he says, there is no ground for fear that political patronage and graft will enter into the affairs of the Canadian National Railways under the new administration.

When the Canadian National Railways were under political control during the former regime of the Liberals it was the extravagance due to patronage which brought the affairs of that enterprise to a sad state. It was political influence which led to the construction of unnecessary hotels, branch lines of railway which could not pay, and steamship services that were heavy losers. It may be that there was a demand for such services. It is the duty of Governments to resist such demands where they are uneconomic.

The Government is defying the report of the Duff Commission in changing control of the Canadian National Railways. That Commission thought that the question of political control was the crux of the whole situation. Its recommendations were directed to getting the railways out of political control. It was an impartial tribunal, and its findings, which were put into effect, are now to be upset so as to create a new political agency for Liberalism. The Minister of Railways is pursuing a short-sighted policy, one which most assuredly will not contribute to economic recovery in the Dominion.

CANADA AND AVIATION

Canada's Minister of Defence has made the naive admission that his Department has only ten up-to-date airplanes. This country has pilots of high standing, but officially comparatively little has been done to encourage aviation, either civil or military. The Government has been preoccupied with matters of lesser moment. There is no trans-Canada air mail, though this subject is to be discussed shortly. Even now there is no decision as to whether such an enterprise, if it eventuates, will be engaged in by private enterprise or by Army pilots. If it is decided that the Government will undertake the trans-Canada air mail it will have to have the necessary machines constructed. Such an investment would probably mean that no machines would be purchased for defensive purposes, and this country would continue to lag behind in comparison with other parts of the Empire. It would seem the part of wisdom to encourage commercial aviation companies to undertake the trans-Canada service, which could be arranged if sufficient subsidies were given for the carriage of mails.

Civil and military air services should be kept apart. The Government could do its part in promoting the former through the trans-Canada service. The development of a defensive air force should be kept in a separate compartment. There should be a decision as to the number of Army airplanes that are needed; where they should be stationed, and what should be the personnel of a military air force. The Minister of Defence is enthusiastic enough in favor of Canada doing what is commensurate with her responsibilities for her own and Imperial defence. It is time that the country played its part in aviation. With the great distances in the Dominion and its sparsely-settled areas there is a demand for air services which is as yet far from being fulfilled.

RADICALISM

An acute observer of social movements in the sixteenth century and of the methods by which they were carried on in those days, has given an account of them which, but for an occasional old-fashioned word or phrase, might have been written of almost any of our modern radical parties. This Elizabethan writer says of the radicals of his day that their devices were always strictly relative to a carefully thought-out design. Their purpose was, in the first place, to beget, if possible, in the public mind a "great good opinion" of the integrity and zeal of the radical. How was this to be accomplished? Obviously by constantly reproving others and so suggesting that they themselves must be "singularly good."

Having thus "purchased unto themselves with the multitude a name to be virtuous," they next proceeded to create an impression that they were not only virtuous but also wise above all others. To acquire this reputation the device they employed was "to impute all faults and corruptions wherewith the world abounds" to the kind of government under which they lived. From this it was but a natural step to recommend to their followers a radical form of government as "the only sovereign remedy of all evils." At this stage of the process the radicals call to their aid all that they can pervert of the words of ancient and modern authors, always insisting that it is by a special gift of illumination that the radical discerns the true meaning of the text.

The foregoing applies, point by point, to the radical policy and propaganda of our own day. Socialists, for example, labor hard to make the public believe that there is in all Socialists a quite unique quality of integrity and pure goodness. How, indeed, can it be otherwise when, as everyone knows, Socialists are so industrious in reproving others! This is not all, however. They are, they say, wise as well as good. The non-Socialist mind, they explain, is a darkened mind, incapable of clear thought. To the Socialist has been granted the true vision, a sort of divine insight which enables him to penetrate the obscurest depths of political and economic truth, whereas the non-Socialist suffers from that intellectual and moral disability that is known as invincible ignorance!

ADMINISTRATIVE SAVINGS

Through the consolidation of administrative departments a reduction is being made in the number of Cabinet Ministers at Ottawa from twenty-one to sixteen. This has actually taken place, and now the necessary authority for the administrative reform is being sought from Parliament. There is now a Department of Transport or Communications covering the old Departments of Railways, Canals and Marine. A new Department of Mines, Resources and Colonization merges the old Departments of Interior, Mines, Immigration, Colonization and Indian Affairs.

These changes save the country money, and they have been long overdue. They should be ofily the beginning of administrative retrenchment. The multiplication of officialdom at Ottawa has been going on through the years and has become wholly top-heavy. It is the same throughout every Provincial Government in the country. There are superfluous officials everywhere, and new ones constantly being appointed to carry out duties which could be admirably performed by Civil Servants of long standing. There is not a single Provincial Legislature that could not function equally well with one-half its personnel of Cabinet Ministers, and five such Legislatures would be ample in Canada. The Maritimes should have one Provincial Government, the Prairies one, and Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia would make up the five, with a substantial saving effected in the prodigious outlays now considered necessary for provincial administration.

HANDICAPPING TOURIST INDUSTRY

The benefits of tourist traffic are usually summarized by the amount of money put into circulation in the community that attracts visitors. Every appraisement of this industry is made in dollars and cents. This expenditure is what leaves new money in a locality, gives an impetus to business and spreads its consequent advantages to all sections of the population affected. Yesterday several hundred visitors came to Victoria from the American side. They found the city enjoying its weekly half-holiday with the stores closed. The experience is not new to visitors during the Summer months. They have commented on it very forcibly on many occasions, but, in defiance of the desire of our people to benefit through the tourist traffic, nothing is done to remedy the situation.

There is no desire on any side that store clerks should suffer the loss of their weekly half-holiday. In Summer, however, during the height of the tourist traffic, it ought to be possible to obtain amending legislation to the Half-Holiday Act whereby it would be a matter of arrangement between employers and employees so that the latter will secure their rest without depriving tourists of the facility for shopping when they come here on Wednesdays.

The Oxford Union has again refused by vote to allow women to participate in its debates. It has also, by a majority of ten, passed a resolution to the effect that it recognizes no flag but the Red Flag. Women may not be wanted in the Union as debaters but they should be admitted as nurses to prevent the male members from making themselves ridiculous.

Since Premier Aberhart arbitrarily reduced the interest on Alberta's bonds without the consent of the bondholders, there is another name for the political thesis he espouses. It is now called "Social Discredit."

A PRAYER

It is my joy in life to
At every turning of the road,
The strong arm of a comrade kind,
To help me onward with my load,

And since I have no gold to give,
And love alone must make amends,
My only prayer is, while I live—
God make me worthy of my friends.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

There are two powers that make for peace: what is right and what is fitting.—Goethe.

Hon. Anthony Eden still believes something can be made of the League of Nations. He says in effect there is nothing in this world so bad that it is beyond redemption. At any rate, if the League cannot be redeemed, the nations might as well abandon hope of maintaining the structure of what we call our civilization. Notwithstanding the outbreak of individual and national savagery during the last twenty years, there is reason to believe that in some respects at least higher standards of ethics are making appeals to the reason of the people of the nations.

• • •

If there is good in everything, there must be an element of saving grace in the hearts of the men of all nations. If a nation begins to dream of conquest of territory and loot of goods, and "sees red," that nation is the victim of bad leadership. An international outlaw is as much a menace to the peace of the world as a social outlaw is to the peace and order of society. Notwithstanding the fate of Red Ryan and a number of his tribe, all criminals are not irreclaimable. Justice is inflexible, but allied with justice there is mercy, and the forces of organized society never cease in their efforts to reclaim those who have sinned against their own order and to re-establish them in good standing.

• • •

There are at present several international outlaws. None of them is beyond redemption. Russia has been for several years in international bad odor. The ways of the Russians are not our ways. Deeds were done in Russia the telling of which caused the blood to run cold and the cheek to blanch. No doubt the provocation was great. The contrast between great wealth and grinding poverty, between unbridled licence and blasting tyranny, was too great, and a devouring flame of revolution swept the land. The instrument of reform was crude, but the best thought of the world is agreed that there had to be a change in the political and social system of Russia. What are the Russians likely to make of their country and of themselves?

• • •

The old system of the Czars was hard. The system which succeeded that system was originally crude and rude. A system of dictatorship cannot be administered according to a code of tenderness and mercy. The Red Army executes the orders of the courts and maintains peace within the borders of the state. Acts which would be considered of trivial import in this country might be capital offences in Russia. The head of the state cannot do any political wrong, and therefore is immune from criticism.

• • •

And yet a change is taking place in Russia. The individual is being liberated from the yoke of serfdom to the state. The five-year plans have revealed something to the minds of the masters of Russian industries. All the men in Russia may be free, but they are not equal in either mind or body. Some have greater talents than others and are endowed with greater physical strength and energy than others. So instead of a dead level of compensation for labor, the workman is now being rewarded according to his capacity for production. The Government of Russia has found out by a system of trial and error that there are some things better done in other countries than in Russia, and that it may be profitable to retain what is good in the system of other countries and to exchange goods produced in Russia for goods produced in other countries.

• • •

Cynics notwithstanding, we believe there are nations as well as individuals in process of reclamation. Russia may not have gone very far along the new road; but she is on the way. The case of Italy may seem hopeless for the present, and the case of Germany not much better. Mussolini should have found out by this time that there is neither honor, glory nor profit in war, and that the bigger the war the greater the reaction. Yet these two dictators are playing the nations against one another and along the brink of a volcano. Mussolini and Hitler bullying the new Premier of France and threatening the country with war if the Government does not force Britain to lift sanctions and recognize African conquests.

• • •

Two bad boys are making all the trouble for the world and the League of Nations. Germany insists that she was not blood-guilty in the Great War. Italy proclaims all absence of intent in Abyssinia. Both are ready to come into the fold, lie down in peace, and never let the thought of war enter their somnolent heads. Both are ready to give new written guarantees. Peace for twenty-five years! Possibly another case of trial and error. But if there is to be general peace some nation must head the list of signatories.

Hard are life's early steps; and but that youth is buovant, confident and strong in hope, men would behold its threshold and despair.—L. E. Landon.

Vancouver Island Is Written Into Medical Journal

Beauties, wonders and attractions of Vancouver Island, especially in Victoria, are well presented in the June issue of the Canadian Medical Journal, which also includes a programme of the doctors' convention to be held at the Empress Hotel from June 22 to 26.

The article on Vancouver Island, supplied by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, is well illustrated by photographs of the Inner Harbor, Hatley Park, Butchart's Gardens and views from the Malahat Drive.

A recent issue of the Standard Oil Bulletin, which has a circulation of many thousands throughout the United States and Canada, carries an interesting air photograph of Victoria.

Most Unusual Happening

Because of unforseen expenses and extras that crop up, many a convention held here ends in a deficit, and delegates have to dig into their pockets to foot the bills. When final results of a recent conclave were tabulated, businessmen who contributed to preliminary expenses found a balance of $104.12. The money will be returned pro rata at 38.6 cents on the dollar. In our humble opinion, the balance bespeaks highly efficient management and co-operation . . . From Alert Bay comes the story of a young minister who objected to one of his Indian parishioners smoking a pipe in front of her shack. Her Choice!

While 11,000 voters did not go to the polls at all on Monday, an elderly and slightly flustered housewife voted twice. Given a ballot in a polling division that shall be nameless, the voter disappeared for a long time behind the curtain of the booth. On her return, the following conversation, vouched for by Victoria election officials, took place:

Poll Clerk: "Why, this ballot is folded just as I gave it to you. Did you vote, Madame?"

Voter: "Oh, I didn't use that paper at all. I voted for a map in the booth!"

There was a rush for the booth by election officers. On the wall was the customary demonstration ballot of an imaginary contest between "Brown." "Green" and son on. The undivided support of the voter had been given to "Brown"! After this rehearsal, however, the voter cast a ballot in the by-election.—S.G.

Good Luck, Boys

Judging by the turnout for the inaugural automobile racing meet at the Langford Speedway Saturday afternoon, success here is assured. Jack Taylor, Langford resident, and the man behind the building of the track, is deserving of considerable praise for his efforts to place this most thrilling of sports on Victoria's sport calendar. In passing the orchids out to Jack Taylor, we also wish to include members of the British Columbia Automotive Sports Association, many of whom assisted materially in the construction of the new project. We are, indeed, pleased to join the large army of people whom we feel will say, "Good luck, boys."—S.T.

Letters to the Editor

No letter to the Editor will be inserted except over the proper signature and address of the writer. This rule admits of no exception. No letter should exceed 500 words in length.

"ANOTHER RACKET"

Sir,—In a recent editorial, under the above title, it was related how some young men in Ottawa, desirous of securing a university education, evolved a scheme by which the Government should assist them to obtain it. Your editorial was rather scornful of the idea.

When will the public wake up to the fact that their Government is there to do their will, and for that purpose only? It will scarcely be denied that the will of the people of Canada (if they were asked) is that their children should receive the very best education possible. It would also be their will that "poverty be abolished," and that they receive the very best medical service.

There are plenty of good teachers. If not, it is an easy matter to train as many more as required.

There are already an abundance of goods, and as many more could be easily be made as is necessary to supply human need. There are also plenty of good doctors. So that it is clear that there is no physical or human reason why the will of the people in these respects should not be implemented by their Government. Finance alone stands soldily in the way.

What is finance? We used to think it was a science, governed by immutable laws. We are just beginning to understand that it is little more than a clever system of book accounting—entirely man made and subject to alteration. The banker is the man who understands this money system, just as the mechanic understands the motor car. He then is the logical man (the expert) to put this broken-down financial machine in order so that it will do what is today required of it—"deliver the goods!"

It is the business of Parliament (our elected representatives) to see that the people get what they want; and to employ the expert to do it. At present they are usurping the function of the expert. And being themselves second or third rate experts (or worse) are making a terrible mess of it.

The people must wake up and demand results, realizing that they are the masters. They must not allow themselves to be confused by plans for this or that. When a candidate offers himself for election they must tell him what they want him to do, i.e., abolish poverty, etc.

It is not their job, nor is it his to know exactly how this can be done. All that really matters is that this can be done, and that it is the will of the people that it shall be done. The expert is the man to make the plan. The responsibility then rests on the proper shoulders. Parliament must be held to its proper job—that of getting results.

The only means by which we can hope to get out of debt, and abolish poverty, are: That the Government cease borrowing its own credit from the banker, and that it issue debt-free national dividends to every Canadian man and woman which shall not increase taxation, nor depreciate anyone's property.

That this is absolutely possible today Douglas Social Credit can prove irrefutably.

LAW AND THE CRIMINAL

Sir,—The weighty letter published by you on May 22, entitled "A Recent Sentence," is too important to excuse frivolous replies. The possibility of antipodes was once a subject for ridicule until the meaning of the word "down" was studied, when it appeared that former opponents were really in agreement.

So now, it behoves us to inquire first how far we are in agreement and it would seem safe to assert that all people in a democratic country realize that the police and the courts are their servants; we can none of us escape responsibility by hiding behind the forms of our agents, the only question being whether or not we will do our duty.

It was Daniel Webster, I believe, who said, "Massachusetts, there she stands." Many thoughtful citizens of that state felt recently that those words must now be altered to read, "Massachusetts, there she lies," dragged in the dust because of the indifference of her citizens, until too late to the ghastly travesty of justice, which was being enacted in her courts. The writer will carry to the grave a feeling of guilt that he did nothing then. What a hideously mistaken idea of the whole subject he had, actually expecting that the prisoners would snarl behind their bars and say, or seem to say, "Why do you come to mock?" Too late, he learned of their pathetic, even tragic, longing that some one should come to see them—any one—if only to show that the public was not wholly indifferent to their fate.

Agreed that we all have a duty toward society and the courts, we approach the field of difference of opinion as to how our reaction to crime should be expressed. Those who hold the conservative position apparently think their liberal opponents have sympathy for the criminal rather than for his victims. Such a view is unquestionably mistaken; the liberal attitude being that inevitable reaction should take the form best for society and for the criminal. The discussion of such forms would exceed the limits of this letter, even if the writer felt qualified to appraise. We are all familiar with the idea that prisons are schools of crime, but few of us had an adequate conception of the meaning of those words until we had read "We Who Are About to Die." It might perhaps be said that a reading of that moving book is a prerequisite to competent discussion of this subject.

It is probably a fair statement of the liberal attitude that it seeks not to fit the punishment to the crime, but to fit it to the criminal. The former might be styled the mechanical method; it asks, did the prisoner commit burglary? If so, such a penalty. Was he of age? If so, such a penalty. Was he armed? If so, such a penalty. It is simply a matter of putting the indictment or conviction into its proper pigeonhole.

It is not alone among the laity that a more advanced opinion prevails as to the proper procedure. In an English court we read that the judge said to a young girl: "Now tell me in your own words just what happened," and that the result clarified the situation more than long questioning and wrangling among lawyers. The point is that such procedure would be almost unthinkable in those countries in which "the judge is the mouth which pronounces the words of the law." In Germany, the court would go further and look to the motive and the spirit of the law (if the proposed changes have been carried out), "intended to remove law from the objective to the subjective sphere, and shift the weight of authority from the law to the judge."

Under such procedure it is not difficult to envisage in the case of King, the judge saying to him: "Now tell me, in your own words just what idea you had in your mind when you took the blank cartridges, and just what was your purpose in entering the house?" It is conceivable that the answer might warrant the court in deciding that there had been no intent to commit murder under any conditions, and that the burglary was prompted by a desire for adventure for which the community should have provided proper outlet.

It seems conceivable that the matter of the blank cartridges may be crucial in our own courts, as suggested in the thoughtful letter of Mr. Andrews, and that the present case could hardly be construed as one of burglary with firearms within the meaning of the statute; for clearly the underlying idea of such law is that the burglar plans to kill if necessary.

URSUS KERMODEI

Sir,—At the present time when it appears that something may shortly be done to terminate a long standing mistake and cruelty in confining this animal, would like to offer a suggestion as to what in my opinion would settle the matter effectively and inexpensively.

(1) Terminate the life of the animal by shooting or lethal chamber.

(2) Have the animal stuffed and offered to the Provincial Museum.

Reasons for above suggested method of procedure:

(1) If subscriptions are taken up they may not be adequate to provide for a large modern enclosure.

(2) As pointed out in a letter, this procedure might perpetuate a cruel practice.

(3) The bear might be dead before the scheme were completed.

(4) People interested in a white bear could study th animal in the museum at present and in future.

(5) Last and most important, it would relieve the minds of a great many residents a d visitors, of a subconscious resentment that such cruelty can be continued year after year, a subconscious thought that only needs a reminder from articles of Bruce Hutchinson, and protests in letters to the paper to bring to the surface of the mind a feeling of impotent objection.

VANCOUVER ISLAND

Sir,—It is cheering to read in The Colonist that our native sons have entered into the campaign for a new deal for Vancouver Island. I missed being a native son by a few months when my father, with his family, left for England on a mission to serve this Island.

I have lately had to point out in letters to Ottawa that we have an industry here employing more than 100 men who have asked, by petition, for a postoffice, and who have done so for five years.

This lake's natural attractiveness to tourists had spread to Ottawa, but a sawmill was unsuspected outside of taxation departments. A neighbor of mine gets his Daily Colonist at Alberni in a bundle once a week. Many do not subscribe to a daily paper owing to this handicap. The mill company send to Alberni twice daily for their own and employee's mail. Some public organizations of Alberni inquire why of the district superintendent at Vancouver; the fog of indifference rises, and now it seems that if someone responsible would do the carrying for 25 or 30 cents a trip, a recommendation might be sent to Ottawa. It must be known this would not meet the cost, but an economy, not enforceable on the Mainland, may be slipped over the customary yielding people of this Alberni district. We need to be led to a discussion of our relationship before, during and after political meetings and help to make ourselves known.

During a conversation with an Ottawa department official then in Vancouver, I said: "A Spaniard discovered the inlet, but my father made it commercially known."

"I have heard of your father, he left England with a number of convicts for the Island, didn't he?"

No convicts were sent to any part of Vancouver Island, I said.

"Oh, maybe I had your Island mixed up with that other Island, a Dutchman, Van somebody discovered."

"Are you thinking of Van Diemen and Tasmania," I prompted.

"Now I see," said my friend. "I got confused over convicts and sappers."

Thank you, Mr. Editor, if you give this strange but true voice of one crying from the wilderness of Vancouver Island publicity.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock, add 19.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of June 11, 1886)

Beaumont Realty—The fortification news has imparted to Esquimalt real estate an upward tendency. On Monday M. Connolly, of Larkin, Connolly & Co., purchased four town lots on the corner of the main street and the road leading to the dockyard, with the intention of placing substantial improvements thereon.

Wedding Bells—George Walker, of this city, was on Wednesday evening last united in wedlock to Emily, daughter of John Parker, of Craigflower. The marriage was celebrated at the father's residence, where a large number of friends of the bridegroom had assembled. We congratulate the happy couple and tender them our best wishes for their future welfare.

Workingmen's Ticket—At a meeting of the workingmen's delegates at Harmony Hall last evening, the following names were announced as their ticket for the city at the coming general elections: A. J. Smith and J. M. Duval. Several other applicants were nominated, but declined to stand.

Kemble, wife of Lieut.-Colonel Kemble, U.S.A., from Manila for Pennsylvania; Mrs. A. K. Lund, Y.W.C.A. inspector, of Oslo, returning to Europe; Miss D. E. Onions, from Shanghai for England; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Seaman and child, missionary family en route to Europe on leave from duties with the China Inland Mission.

Navy and army travelers included Lieut. and Mrs. N. J. Halpine and two children, going to Washington from Manila; Captain L. B. Puller, U.S.M.C., bound for Virginia; Mrs. Edith Richards, for Los Angeles from Shanghai; Lieut. D. M. Shoup and child, traveling on Government business from Kobe for Bremerton; Major and Mrs. W. A. Morton, U.S.M.C., going to Washington on official business; Captain and Mrs. F. Christian, U.S.A., on home leave to Washington from Manila, and Sgt. F. W. Ferguson, U.S.M.C., from Shanghai for Tennessee.

TOURISTS ABOARD

Tourists included Miss Bertha Schikel, New York; Miss Julia Lane, Mrs. A. H. Langdon, Mrs. H. K. Miller, of the Lantern Land Tour; Miss E. T. Jensen, organizer of the Lantern Land Tour, and Miss Lee Schwiesow, of Tacoma. T. E. Borden, United States Immigration inspector, Alameda, was a Government official returing home, after accompanying a group of Filipino repatriates from San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Eugen Etter were going to Europe from Yokohama; Harry Ochs, businessman from Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Huppman, the former being Oriental representative of the Ford Motor Company, Shanghai; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McCord, from Manila for Portland; H. D. Rodine, from Hongkong for Nebraska; Jacob Brimberg, fur buyer, from Tientsin for New York, Joseph Chaikin, Yokohama for New York; Mr. and Mrs. S. Danzig and child, from Kobe for New York, and Hans Hommel, salesman, of Shanghai, for Germany.

L. W. Horton, mining engineer, of Baguio, for Ohio; Dr. T. Z. Koo and daughter, Peiping, for New York; Mr. and Mrs. Y. T. Hu, missionary doctor and lecturer, Peiping, for Europe; Lieut. F. N. Reyes, cadet of Philippine army, for Randolph Flying Field; Madame M. Sugi Machi, opera singer, from Tokio, for Los Angeles; Lieut. J. A. Villamor, cadet, Philippine army, for Randolph Flying Field; David Staples, planter, from Mindinao, for Mayo Clinic, Rochester, and Mrs. C. J. Rainear, from Yokohama for Philadelphia.

SHOCKED BY REPORTERS

New York Newspapermen Barged Into Princess' Cabin At All Hours

"Shanghai's Russians refugees are no longer white. Japan's inroads into China have turned them pink," stated Princess Alexandria Kaishkin, of the old Georgian nobility, in an interview aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia here yesterday, on which she is returning to China after her first trip to this continent.

Herself a newspaperwoman, a reporter on The Shanghai Russian Daily News, the Princess does not stand on ceremony when talking to fellow reporters. She did, however, object to the rough and ready methods of New York newspapermen. She asserts they barged into her cabin at any time of the day or night, sat on her bed, and even read her private mail. She reached New York from Shanghai aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain and spent a long holiday in Ann Arbor, Mich., before coming on to the Pacific Coast. There she enjoyed herself immensely, and discovered, she said, that in New York she had only met foreigners.

QUITE DIFFERENT

She averred she was quite shocked by the lack of respect which men showed women on this continent; quite different from China, she stated, where every woman, despite her status, enjoyed a full measure of respect from all males. This difference, she found, was particularly noticeable at cabarets in New York and San Francisco, where the close embrace of the dancers was something rarely seen in her home city.

She has lived in Shanghai since the age of four, escaping from her Petrograd home with her mother just before the Red revolution began.

The Princess is twenty-seven, has been married twice, but does not plan to make the venture a third time. She was educated in Shanghai and Harbin, and speaks Russian, Chinese, English and French fluently. She is cosmopolitan, at home in any country, but just to emphasize her femininity, she was carrying 130 dresses in her trunks aboard the Empress of Asia. She says she started the journey with only about seventy dresses. Just the same, she was simply dressed in a Scotch plaid coat when she waved goodbye to Canada from the Victoria dock and promised to return to see this Dominion next Summer.

Expects to Tour America

MADAME SUGI MACHI

Japanese soprano, arrived here yesterday aboard the American Mail Line Ss. President Jackson. She is going to fill an engagement at Portland, and then continue to Los Angeles. She has earned considerable fame in operatic roles and concert work. She studied in Milan, and prefers America to Japan, she told newspapermen.

Bargain Rates Are Effective During Week-End

GIVING Victorians an opportunity of spending several days visiting their friends Up-Island or enjoying a short holiday at one of the many popular resorts between Victoria and its terminals, the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway is offering transportation to all parts of its system at extremely low fares.

These bargain rates, as they have been styled, enable the ticket purchaser to travel to any point between Victoria and Port Alberni or Courtenay, with the privilege of leaving on either Friday or Saturday of this week, with a return limit, Tuesday, June 16. The rates are also available to Up-Island residents wishing to visit Victoria or any other community on the line of the railway.

DIMINUTIVE OPERA STAR

Madame Sugi Machi, Soprano, Passes Through Victoria on Way South

A petite and vivacious Japanese opera star came to Victoria yesterday aboard the American Mail Line Ss. President Jackson. She is Madame Sugi Machi, soprano. She will remain indefinitely in the United States, she stated, and was on her way to Portland, where she will fill a five-night engagement. From the Oregon city she will continue to Los Angeles.

Madame Sugi Machi, who began her American career in 1925, when she sang in Seattle with the Coliseum Orchestra, is rated by Coast critics as a concert and operatic artist of high attainments. She became a leading soprano with the Seattle Grand Opera Company during the next three years, and was a featured soloist at times on all broadcasting stations in the West.

STUDIED IN ITALY

Going to Milan, Italy, in 1928, she spent three years studying under Madio Zamarco. Returning to America she went on concert tour through Pacific Coast states and Canada, scoring many successes as "Madame Butterfly" and "Iris," following which she located in Los Angeles, where she founded the first Japanese radio programme of the air. This programme, the Japanese Cultural Broadcasting Society, still continues, although Madame Sugi Machi has been absent in Japan for the past six months.

Talking to newspapermen aboard the liner, the singer said she was under the management at the present time of Maurice Hudkins, Portland, who was arranging a reception for her on the arrival of the liner at Seatle. She expects to make an American tour in "Madame Butterfly" later on.

She told of appearing at Hollywood Bowl on a number of occasions, when as many as 20,000 music lovers heard her sing. The opera she sang there, "Sakura," had been dedicated to her, she said, and its real purpose was to promote good will between America and Japan.

Leaving Yokohama, she had been given a great farewell, her stateroom, on arrival here, being a mass of artificial flowers. "It is the custom of Japan, when one is leaving on a long steamer journey, to make the flower gift a lasting one, and so in this way the memory of the giver can be cherished for the longest time," she stated.

Asked if she would pose for her picture, she smilingly said she would, provided she could have some of her flower gifts with her, and be taken in national costume. It was easy to change from Western dress and makeup to Japanese, she said, as it was the practice of young Japanese women at present to present themselves in either dress at short notice.

FREQUENTLY COMES HERE

Dr. T. Z. Koo, Y.M.C.A. Chinese Official, En Route To New York

On his way to attend the National Preaching Mission gathering, organized by the Federal Council of Churches, and which will be held in New York, Dr. T. Z. Koo, lecturer and vice-president of the Chinese Y.M.C.A., accompanied by his daughter, Miss Ivey Koo, passed through Victoria yesterday aboard the American Mail Line Ss. President Jackson.

Dr. Koo, who frequently crosses the Pacific in connection with his educational work in the Orient, was last here in February, of this year. He stated that he would be in the United States until October, when he would be leaving for England and the Continent of Europe.

The Chinese educationist, who has been on an extended tour of China, visiting many points between Peiping and Canton, stated that the move on the part of the southern provinces in protest against Japanese occupation of North China would prove premature. Nor did he think it was a proper move in any event at the present time. China is gradually growing more nation-conscious all the time, and some day it might hope to assert itself with some prospect of success.

LINER AWAY FOR HAWAII

Empress of Asia Sailed Last Evening En Route to Orient

Sailing three days ahead of her usual schedule, the Canadian Pacific liner Ss. Empress of Asia, Captain A. V. R. Lovegrove, R.N.R., commander, left here yesterday for Far East ports by way of Hawaii, Japan and China. The liner had a large passenger list, many of whom were for Honolulu. The Asia docked alongside Rithet Piers from Vancouver at 4 p.m., and cleared for sea at 5:30 p.m.

Among the passengers on the Asia were a number of round-the-world tourists, including Miss Mae E. Russell, Tacoma; Commander Arthur Smith, U.S.N. (retired), and Mrs. Smith, Detroit; and the Brownell conducted tour of twelve members, led by Mrs. G. Brownell, with headquarters at Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

Five Portland women will accompany the liner to Honolulu. They are Mrs. M. F. McCall, Mrs. Alice Martin Eckerin, Miss Elizabeth M., Pollock, Miss Clive Baltimore and Miss M. M. Scroggs. They intend to remain there until the Ss. Niagara arrives southbound, when they will go aboard her for a "Southern Cross" tour of the Southern Dominions.

NINE JESUIT PRIESTS

Passengers for the Orient included a party of nine Jesuit priests from New York, who are going out for mission work in the Philippines; Peter Hopkins, thirty-one-year-old manager of the Shanghai Power Company; and Miss E. A. D. Drummond, daughter of David Drummond, Oriental manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Hongkong, who has been attending school in England.

Travelers for Honolulu were: Miss M. M. Cooke and Miss Martha Melanphy, Honolulu residents who have been holidaying in the Pacific Northwest; Miss Phyllis Lamoreau, Seattle; Mrs. K. M. Prebig, Tacoma; the Misses Olinda H. and Jane Ambruster, St. Louis, and Miss Bess Olson and Miss Helen Picknell, Longview.

WILL SUGGEST GAME SEASONS

Island Fish and Game Board Seek Change in Fish Cultural Branch

NANAIMO, June 10.—Delegates from seven clubs of the nine forming the Affiliated Fish and Game Association of Vancouver Island met here tonight, with President T. Pitt, of Duncan, presiding. The association will recommend to the Game Commission open season for game birds for 1936 as follows:

Blue grouse, from September 12 to October 31; bag limit to be six per day and twenty-five for season.

Pheasants, October 17 to November 15; daily limit four, season's total twenty-five.

In the Alberni district, the association recommends that the pheasant season be only from October 17 to October 31, and the bag limit three per day and season's total twenty-five.

Ruff or willow grouse, October 17 to October 31; bag limit six and season's total twenty-five.

Quail, October 17 to November 15; bag limit ten per day and fifty for season. Alberni district to be closed entirely for quail.

Partridge, October 17 to November 1; bag limit six per day and twenty-five for season.

SEEK CHANGE

The association unanimously passed the following resolution: "This association is not satisfied with conditions under which fish culture is being carried on and goes on record as being in favor of a change in the head of the fish cultural branch of the British Columbia Fish and Game Commission, and that the present head be replaced by a scientific man, properly trained and experienced."

Major R. Monteith, Victoria, was appointed chairman of a committee to meet the Federal Minister of Fisheries, who is expected to be in Victoria within a few weeks, and protest to him, on behalf of the affiliated associations, the closing down of game or sport fish hatcheries, especially the closure of the hatchery at Cowichan Lake.

Inspector Cunningham, of the Game Board, informed the meeting it is the intention of the board to turn loose in favorable areas 10,000 pheasants each year in future.

MUNGO QUITS THE DODGERS

Ace Pitcher Walks Out on Casey Stengel — Faces Fine and Suspension

PITTSBURGH, June 10 (AP).—Van Lingle Mungo, star speedball pitcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, quit the team today and left for New York.

Mungo gave no reason for his action, but it has been an open secret that the big right-hander had been dissatisfied with the support of his teammates and disappointed at the failure of recent negotiations to trade him.

John Gorman, business manager of the club, said no action would be taken against the pitcher, at least until the club gets to Cincinnati tomorrow. It seemed inevitable, however that he will be fined or suspended or both.

Considered by many the fastest pitcher in the game today, Mungo has been sought by practically every club in the league for the past few seasons.

Next Monday is the deadline for trades this season and some baseball writers thought Mungo may have decided to gamble on being suspended, in the hope of being traded before the closing date.

Mungo has been knocked from the box in his last two starts.

Laird Watt Beaten

BECKENHAM, Kent, England, June 10 (AP).—Nigel Sharpe, British tennis player, defeated Laird Watt, of Montreal, 6-2, 6-1, today, in the second round of the Kent County championships.

Montreal's other entrant in the tourney, Bob Murray, was defeated yesterday by F. H. D. Wilde.

City and District

Postpone Party—The lawn party to have been held on the grounds of the manse, Centennial United Church, 612 David Street, this afternoon, has been postponed to Thursday, June 18.

Normal School Results—Department of Education officials said yesterday that Vancouver Normal School examination results will be announced today, and Victoria Normal School results about the first of next week, from present indications.

Delay Work—Rain has delayed road work contemplated by the city, G. M. Irwin, city engineer, said yesterday. Oiling will not be carried out until the weather improves. Scarifying of Fairfield Road near Arnold Street, and widening improvements also have been delayed until the rainy weather is over.

Changes Planned—Possibility of building a spiral staircase from the gymnasium to the stage and enlarging the platform space at Victoria High School, was discussed by the school board last evening. Two classrooms may also be made into one accommodating seventy students taking up supervised studies.

To Describe Work—The work of the Canadian Red Cross will be described by Hugh M. Birch Jones, provincial commissioner, at the meeting of the Men's Parish Guild of Christ Church Cathedral, to be held in Memorial Hall tonight at 8 o'clock, and which is open to any men interested.

Forest Fires Increasing—Lightning storms in Kamloops and Nelson areas boosted forest firest this week, with a total of 318 fires reported throughout the province from the start of the season, compared with 275 outbreaks at this time last year. E. C. Manning, chief forester, is on an inspection tour in the Interior.

Visiting Here—Dr. C. W. Banks, surgeon of New Rochelle, N.Y., arrived here Tuesday with Mrs. Banks, after a holiday in California. They will return East through Canada and are looking forward to their trip through the Rockies. Victoria's beauties, which they are seeing for the first time, are drawing high praise from them.

Gives Address—Dr. G. W. Mulders, of Heliophysical Institute, of the University of Utrecht, Netherlands, visited the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory Tuesday and gave a lecture to the staff on "Intensity Distribution in the Continuous Spectrum for the Sun." Dr. Mulders has left for Seattle, en route to Mount Wilson, Cal.

Want Change—Receiving a letter from Victoria Ratepayers' Association yesterday, the school board announced there was no intention to transfer work done by the superintendent of grounds and buildings to the city building inspector. Ratepayers claimed there was unnecessary duplication of work.

Special Band Concert—The 16th Canadian Scottish Regiment Band will give a special children's concert in Beacon Hill Park on Sunday afternoon. Miss Merle North will sing a group of songs dedicated to the children. Balloons and lollipops will be distributed among the children during the afternoon. The concert will commence at 3 o'clock.

Leaves for Chicago — Harold L. Campbell, of the Provincial Normal School staff, has left for Chicago, where he will attend the Winnetka Summer School for Teachers conducted by Carleton W. Washburne. Before taking over his duties in the Provincial Summer School for Teachers here, Mr. Campbell will attend the National Education Association convention in Portland.

Magazine Issued — The Victoria College annual, "The Craigdarroch," dedicated to Jeffree A. Cunningham, B.A., Queens, has been issued by the student body. It contains a foreword by Professor P. H. Elliott, M.Sc., McGill, principal. The magazine is well illustrated and contains many amusing references to students and college topics, besides articles and poetry.

Awarded Scholarship — Ian M. Drum, son of Mrs. Lorne Drum and the late Colonel Drum, Uplands, has been awarded the Leonard Scholarship for the highest standing for third year applied science at Queen's University, according to word received in the city yesterday. Mr. Drum, who is taking a chemical engineering course, graduated from the Royal Military College, Kingston, last year.

Touring Northwest—On a tour of the Pacific Northwest, Mrs. Armstrong Taylor, wife of the noted physician and surgeon of San Francisca, Dr. Taylor, arrived at the Empress Hotel Tuesday in her Rolls Royce automobile, accompanied by Miss Helen Garritt, San Mateo; O. Goldaracena, San Francisco, and Donald McL. Lewis, San Mateo. Mrs. Taylor is socially prominent in San Francisco and has many friends in cities along the Coast.

Cabinet Scattered—Attorney-General Sloan represented the entire Provincial Government in the city yesterday afternoon. The remainder of the Cabinet was scattered over a wide territory. Premier Pattullo, Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Hon. G. S. Pearson and Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir were either in or en route to Omineca for the by-election campaign. Hon. A. W. Gray was at Ottawa. Hon. K. C. MacDonald was at Williams Lake, and Hon. John Hart in Vancouver for the day.

Use of College—Use of the laboratory building at Victoria College for a series of lectures by the local branch of Royal Astronomical Society, was requested from the school board yesterday. Permission will be granted subject to the principal's approval. Use of high school classrooms for the annual Summer school was approved. High school tennis courts will be open to the public during the Summer, the board decided.

Pass Resolution—A resolution of sincere sympathy to relatives of the late B. C. Nicholas was passed by Victoria School Board last evening. Speaking on the resolution, Trustee Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin told how she attended the old high school here in the same class with Mr. Nicholas. She paid tribute to his service to the community, his noble character, ability, and keen interest in students.

Trial Opens—In the County Court here yesterday, the trial of P. J. H. Van Oudenal and J. M. Potter on charges of stealing $400, the property of Charles Desford, commenced, with Judge P. S. Lampman presiding. Henry C. Hall, K.C., Crown counsel, asked leave to extend the charges to embrace six counts in all. R. F. Bainbridge, defence counsel, entered a plea of not guilty on behalf of the accused. Before adjournment yesterday, the case for the Crown was completed. The defence will be proceeded with this morning.

In Supreme Court—In the Supreme Court yesterday, Mr. Justice Murphy was informed by W. T. Straith, representing shareholders of the Pioneer Sand & Gravel Company, that no further remand with respect to an order for the disposing of the assets of the company would be requested. Owing to the interference with transportation facilities, those interested had not been able to carry out their plans. The Court, thereupon, discharged the order delaying any sale which might be in view under the judgment held by O. H. Dorman, represented by P. J. Sinnott.

Normal School Annual—The Provincial Normal School (Victoria) annual, "Anecho," recently issued contains a quantity of matter of considerable interest to the general public as well as to the students. The history of the institution, details concerning the activities both in the classroom and the athletic grounds, the personnel of the faculty; the social, dramatic and literary groups. The book, which is bound in imitation purple suede, contains the customary photographs of all the students, with accompanying thumbnail pen portraits, which help to make the annual a valued souvenir for the members of the year's classes.

To Meet Tonight—The first meeting for June of the Truck Drivers' and Helpers' Union, Local No. 101, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock, in the Trades and Labor Hall. The executive committee hopes for a good attendance, as the meeting is an important one, being practically a reorganization meeting. It will mark a change for the union from an independent status to the position of a Federal union under a new charter granted by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada. Prospective members should attend fifteen minutes prior to the meeting, or get in touch with the secretary at E 4364. Most members are drivers of heavy-type trucks, and an effort is being made to have more drivers of lighter trucks join the organization.

REPUBLICANS DRAFT ELECTION PLATFORM

form was suspended tonight to permit Governor Landon to examine some of the planks drafted by the resolutions sub-committee.

In authoritative circles it was said the platform was being read to the Kansas governor, plank by plank, over the telephone.

CALL FOR BORAH

The platform was finally brought into draft form by the resolutions sub-committee after a prolonged dispute which sent the Republican policy makers to Senator Borah, of Idaho, for help. Planks of sound currency and monopoly topped the sub-committee's list of recommendations.

From various sources close to the work of the committee came word that:

The money plank declared for a sound currency, but withheld preference to a return to the gold standard.

The monopoly plank would be a strong enough declaration for the Idahoan to approve.

On foreign relations, the plank opposed affiliation with the League of Nations or the World Court, a reversal of the 1932 party proposal.

The proposal for a constitutional amendment to allow states to enact minimum wage legislation was abandoned.

Gehringer Loses In Batting Race

(By the Associated Press)

The line-up of baseball's "Big Six" in batting remains the same through yesterday's curtailed major league programme, with only the average of Charley Gehringer, of the Tigers, showing any change. Gehringer, second in the American League trio in the leading half-dozen, got only one hit in four times at bat, losing two points to lower his mark to .363, but still managed to stay one percentage point above third-place Lou Gehrig, of the Yankees.

The standing (three leading hitters in each league):

	G	AB	R	H	Pct.
Sullivan, Indians	32	108	18	40	.407
S. Martin, Cardinals	39	129	33	51	.395

PIGEON RACING

The Victoria and District Racing Pigeon Club held a race over the week-end from Eugene, Ore., an air line distance of 302 miles. Thirty-one birds, representing thirty-one lofts, competed. The birds encountered heavy rain all the way, but in spite of this handicap made excellent time.

J. Bowcott's Dickie was the first bird to cover the distance. W. R. Tait's Who'sit was second with an elapsed time of 10:09:58, six seconds behind the winner. Dickie also annexed the nominated pool.

The annual Provincial Derby from Mount Shasta will be held on Saturday, June 20, and is open to British Columbia pigeon owners. The distance is 500 miles. Full details may be secured from Sid Knott, secretary.

WILL VOTE ON HOLIDAY CHANGE

Duncan Electors to Decide Between Wednesday and Thursday for Early Closing

DUNCAN, June 10. — At last night's meeting of the Duncan City Council it was decided to lay before the electors a proposal to change the weekly half-holiday from Thursday to Wednesday. The vote will be taken at the time of the annual civic elections in January.

The council approved the recommendation of the finance committee to reinvest $95,000 of sinking fund investments. The purchase of Canadian Government bonds to that amount, giving a return of slightly over 3 per cent will be made through J. H. Whittome & Co., Dickie & Duncan, Ltd., and the Canadian Bank of Commerce. The change was decided on owing to a reduction in bank savings account interest.

The council decided to advertise the city in tourist trade development literature during a sixteen-week period.

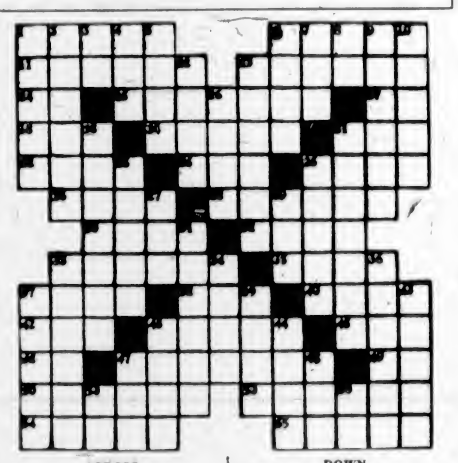

The I.O.D.E. were granted permission to hold a tag day on Alexandra Rose Day, June 27.

Following an address by Major Watts, of the Canadian Institute for the Blind, a gift of $25 was made to that institution.

Many Friends Present At Marriage Ceremony

Miss Helen Prendergast and Mr. Ralph K. Simpson Married at First United Church Last Evening—Honeymoon on Mainland

In the presence of a large congregation, a pretty Summer wedding was solemnized last evening, at 8 o'clock, in First United Church, when Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., united in marriage Helen Lucile, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Prendergast, "Sevenoaks," Carey Road, and Mr. Ralph Kenneth Simpson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Simpson, 906 Market Street.

The church had been beautifully decorated for the occasion by girl friends of the bride, with pink and white flowers, and included a floral arch under which the bride and groom stood during the ceremony. Mr. George Peaker presided at the organ and the music included "Benediction Nuptiale," by Saint-Saens; "The Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin," and the Mendelssohn "Wedding March." He also accompanied Miss Carol Menzies, who sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

ATTRACTIVE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride made a charming picture in a gown of white triple sheer, with form-fitting bodice attached to a V-shaped yoke by tiny tucks in front, and finished at the back with a row of minute self-covered buttons. The bishop sleeves were gathered into fitting cuffs at the wrists, and a graceful skirt graduated to a train at the back. The only ornament was a diamente clasp on the belt. Her embroidered veil was worn beneath a halo of net, held in place with a spray of tiny orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of pale pink bridal roses, carnations and fern.

Miss Dorothy Prendergast, sister of the bride, attended as bridesmaid, wearing an attractive frock of shell pink organza, fashioned with a long flared skirt. The round neckline was ornamented with a sprig of pale blue organza flowers, while the same shade of blue flowers were appliqued around the skirt, just above the knee. A silver braided bandeau, decorated with silver leaves, adorned her hair, and she carried an arm bouquet of pale pink sweet peas, carnations and fern, tied with blue satin ribbon.

Mr. Douglas Balfour was best man and the ushers were Mr. James B. Prendergast and Mr. William O. Findlay.

RECEPTION HELD

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride and groom, who stood beneath a silver bell, suspended from a floral arch, were assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Prendergast, who chose for the occasion a gown of Marina blue crepe with yoke and sleeves of lace, a blue silk hat and matching accessories, and by Mrs. Simpson, who wore a black and white printed silk dress with a long jacket of black silk crepe and a black straw hat, their costumes being completed with corsage bouquets of carnation and fern.

The reception rooms were decorated in a color scheme of pink and white and a three-tier wedding cake, topped with a silver bell, and surrounded with pink tulle, centred the refreshment table. Assisting in serving the buffet supper were Misses Mae Simpson, Amelia Brydon, Doris Robertson, Winnie Robb, Retta Smith, Eleanor Baran, Ila Knolton and June Todd.

The bride and groom left at midnight for Vancouver, and other Mainland points, and on their return will make their home at 1024 Pendergast Street. For going away the bride wore a navy cereal crepe dress with a blue tweed coat, navy hat and grey accessories.

Among the many handsome gifts was a silver cream and sugar set on a silver tray, from the Young People's Society of First United Church, where the bride and groom are popular members; a silver dish from the Eagles Bible Class, of which the groom is an active member, and a cheque from the associates of the groom at the Enamel & Heating Company, Ltd.

Women Are Appointed To Cabinet

PARIS, June 10 (CP-Havas).—Behind the reform measures presented to the Chamber of Deputies yesterday by Premier Leon Blum lay a great deal of thought and much hard work—not the least of it done by the under-secretaries, who in the new French Cabinet hold the same rank as ministers.

Three women, for the first time in the history of the Third Republic, today hold Cabinet positions—Mme. Irene Joliot-Curie, Mme. Cecile Brunschwig and Mme. Suzanne Lacorre.

RADIUM DISCOVERERS

Mme. Joliot Curie, under-secretary for scientific research, was born and lived all her life in the spotlight of fame. Her parents were Pierre and Marie Curie, who discovered radium. From her early youth she studied chemistry, and married Frederic Joliot, one of her mother's most brilliant pupils, before she was twenty.

On the very day when she was congratulated for having won this high award she remarked: "Let me go and look after my child."

"I am a scientist, not a bookworm, and above all a wife and mother," she said.

Suzanne Lacorre, under-secretary for child welfare, is a plain woman of the people. For thirty years she was a teacher in Ayat, a little village in Southwest France. Mme. Lacorre is now over sixty, an old-time militant Socialist.

FEMINIST PIONEER

Mme. Cecile Brunschwig, under-secretary for education, is one of the country's first feminists. She is the wife of Professor Leon Brunschwig, of the Sorbonne, one of the greatest living French philosophers. For thirty years she has been working to get for French women the right to vote—which they still have not obtained. However, her position in the education ministry will mark for many of her fellow-feminists the emancipation they have so long sought.

Women of Moose Elect Officers

The following officers were elected at the business meeting of Victoria Chapter No. 25, Women of the Moose: Past regent, Mrs. E. Jane, senior regent, Mrs. P. Huckin, junior regent, Mrs. M. Carter, chaplain, Mrs. M. Willmott, recorder, Mrs. H. Parker, treasurer, Mrs. E. Burke, sentinel, Mrs. L. Quaintance; argist, Miss E. Garratt, guide, Mrs. E. Clark, assistant guide, Miss B. Tibballs; pianist, Mrs. A. Hatcher, Jr. The installation will take place in the hall on Monday, June 22, and friends are invited to attend at 9 p.m. Members are requested to bring refreshments, as supper will be served.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

The junior regent, Mrs. P. Huckin, presided at the meeting in the absence of the senior regent, Mrs. E. Jane. A report of Mr. S. Slater auditor, referred to the chapter's well-kept books and excellent standing. This was read by Mrs. O. Randy. Mrs. H. Parker reported a sewing "bee" held at the home of Miss D. Guelpa, Fernwood Road, and asked the members to meet at her home, 3075 Washington Avenue, on Monday evening, June 15, to sew for the patchwork quilt. Miss Guelpa gave a report of the carnival dance on May 25. A cutwork buffet set was won by Mrs. Knowles, 1175 Yates Street. Refreshments were served by Mesdames R. Panting and I. Guelpa.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, June 22 at 7:30 p.m. An invitation has been extended to Mrs. E. Dean, deputy grand regent of British Columbia, to install the chapter's officers on June 22, to be assisted by the grand installing guide, Past Regent Mrs. M. Pearce and the grand chaplain, Mrs. Christenson.

A resolution was passed concerning social members' fees, and a petition will be presented by Mrs. Dean at the national conference in Chicago. Mrs. Dean will give a greeting from the Canadian chapters.

Clubs—Societies

Metropolitan L.A.

The regular business meeting of the Metropolitan Ladies' Aid was held in the vestry, with Mrs. W. H. Ozard presiding. The treasurer's report showed a satisfactory balance as the result of the last two banquets. Mrs. M. Nicol and Mrs. W. H. Harte, conveners of the two circles, reported progress in their work of preparation for the annual bazaar. A letter was received from the Women's Benefit Association expressing appreciation of the banquet served, and courtesies extended on the occasion of the Leland rally. As this was the last meeting of the season, plans were made for Summer activities. There will be a meeting of the two circles at the home of Mrs. Ozard early in July. A picnic will be held at Cordova Bay on July 30, the committee in charge being Mesdames E. O. Weston, R. Ritchie, T. Curson and T. F. Adams. A guest tea will be held in the church schoolroom on September 18. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mesdames N. McGibbon, H. Nancarrow and R. Pettigrew.

Qu-Alex Club

The Qu-Alex Girls' Club held a successful carnival night at The Plantation on Tuesday. The main diversion of the evening was dancing, the music being supplied by a popular orchestra, while novelty games, wheels of chance, etc., were also much enjoyed. The hall was gaily decorated in the club colors of blue and yellow and with balloons. Mrs. Yeamans and Miss Mary Laird being responsible for the decorations. Mr. Harry Harris acted as master of ceremonies, and Mr. L. Schmelz and Mr. G. Upward had charge of the financial proceeds. Mr. F. Thompsett had charge of the games, and an attractive novelty stall was under the convenership of Mrs. H. Harris and Miss Annie Reid. Mrs. L. Schmelz, Mrs. Laird and Mrs. G. Upward were in charge of the refreshments, and Miss Marjorie Morris served ice cream.

Delta Omega Sorority

Miss Isobel Routledge, 1598 Wilmot Place, was hostess to the Delta Omega Chapter on Tuesday evening, when plans were discussed for a garden party to be held in July at the home of Miss Louise Patterson in aid of charity. The literary programme included a summary of English art by Miss Isobel Routledge; the life and works of Reynolds by Miss Mildred Baxandall; the life of the poet and painter Rosseti by Miss Eleanor Trotter; the life of Gainsborough by Miss Lex Cruickshank, and the life of Morris by Miss Margaret Hemmingsen.

Miss Doris Ockwell Is Bride of Mr. B. Gilson

Pretty Wedding Takes Place at St. Mark's Church, Cloverdale—Bride and Groom Will Reside at Lake Hill

Rev. O. L. Juil officiated at the ceremony in St. Mark's Church, Cloverdale, last evening at 8:30 o'clock which united in marriage Doris Margaret, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Ockwell, 3226 Alder Street, and Mr. Beverley C. Gilson, younger son of Mr. A. Gilson and of the late Mrs. Gilson. A profusion of lovely flowers in shades of pink and white had been arranged in the church for the occasion.

As the bridal party entered the church, Mrs. F. W. L. Moore played the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin," and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" at the conclusion of the impressive service.

The soloist during the signing of the register was Miss Kathleen Clarke, who sang "Until," accompanied by the organist.

BRIDAL PARTY

The bride, who was given away by her father, was preceded up the aisle by her two attendants, and she looked very pretty in her closely-moulded gown of ivory satin, which was fastened down the back with satin buttons. The skirt, which was gathered at the back, graduated to a slight train, and the sleeves, full to the elbows, ended in tight cuffs tapering over the wrists. Her veil of embroidered net, which reached the floor at the back, was turned off her face with a coronet of orange blossoms, and instead of a bouquet she carried a white vellum-bound prayer-book with white streamers, showered with swansonia.

The bride's sister, Miss Phyllis Ockwell, was the junior bridesmaid, in a pretty floor-length frock of primrose yellow georgette, edged with two rows of frills, with bows of georgette caught to the shoulders with brilliant clasps. Over this she wore a graduated cape of frills tied beneath the chin, and a Marie Stuart cap of yellow net with a bandeau of flowers at the back, and she carried a bouquet of lavender sweet peas.

Miss Alma Carey, a cousin of the bride, was the other attendant, in a picturesque frock of pink lace, made with a series of frills from the waist down, to form a slight train, and worn with a shoulder cape fastened at the front of the Peter Pan collar, and fashioned with full puff sleeves. Her hat of pink lace had a stiff brim of frilled net, and she carried a bouquet of pale pink carnations and blue scabious.

Mr. Percy Gilson supported his brother, and escorting the guests to their pews were Mr. George Sturgeon and Mr. Alfred Ockwell, a brother of the bride.

After the service a large number of guests were welcomed at the home of the bride's parents, where pink and white flowers were artistically arranged. After the bride and groom had received the greetings of their friends, standing beneath a floral arch and bell, refreshments were served. The wedding cake, set in folds of pink tulle, centred the supper table, which was lighted by tall pink tapers and decorated with vases of rosebuds at each corner. Mrs. Ockwell wore a midnight blue gown and a matching hat, and a grey muskrat swagger coat with matching grey accessories.

Party for Bride

At the home of Mrs. William Blair, 1364 Hillside Avenue, a delightful party was given on Monday evening in honor of Mrs. James Wilkes (nee Miss Mae Jacobb), a recent bride, by the members of her bridge club. Upon her arrival the bride and her bridesmaid, Miss Hazel Fenerty, were presented with lovely corsages of blush ping rosebuds and asparagus fern. The reception-rooms were particularly attractive with a profusion of Summer blooms in pastel shades. During the evening court whist was played, the winners being: First, Mrs. James Edwards; second, Mrs. George Edwards, while the consolation prize was awarded to Mrs. E. M. Shribbs, another guest of honor, who is visiting in Victoria from London, Ontario. The hidden prize was won by Mrs. Ross McLachlan. Supper was served later from an attractively arranged table, centred with a rose bowl of pink bridal roses and fern, while on either side were lighted jade green candles in silver holders. During supper, Mrs. George Campion, on behalf of the assembled guests, presented Mrs. Wilkes with a beautiful Gibbard walnut table and magazine rack combined, for which the bride expressed appreciative thanks. The invited guests were Mrs. James Wilkes, Mrs. E. M. Shribbs (London, Ont.), Mrs. George Campion, Mrs. Wesley Strickland, Mrs. James Edwards, Mrs. Hedley McDougall, Mrs. George Edwards, Mrs. Frank Drysdale, Mrs. Arthur Dodd, Mrs. James Talbot, Mrs. Ross McLachlan, Mrs. William Blair and Misses E. Petty and Hazel Fenerty.

Party for Bride-to-Be

Miss Eileen Tomlin, who will become the bride of Mr. Leslie Willoughby on June 27, was the guest of honor at a delightful tea and miscellaneous shower given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Edward F. Fox at her home on Thompson Avenue. The many lovely gifts were concealed beneath a Japanese umbrella prettily decorated with green and yellow crepe paper. Mrs. Thomas Golby and Miss Margaret Merrick presided at the prettily appointed tea table, which was centred with a lovely arrangement of cream and pink roses in a crystal bowl, lighted by pale blue tapers in crystal candelabra. Assisting the hostess in serving were Mrs. Clifford Adams, Miss Elinor Muirhead and Miss Peggy Morrison. The guests were Mrs. Walter Adams, Mrs Edwin Tomlin, Mrs. Clifford Adams, Mrs Thomas Golby, Mrs. Keith Dorman, Mrs. Alfred O Hood, Mrs. Thomas Scott, Misses Vera Sharland, Margaret Merrick, Elinor Muirhead, Peggy Morrison, Gwendolyn Watkins, Eileen Regan, Patricia Hamersley, Isobel McKenzie, Calla Goldsmith and Josephine Delves.

Presentation to Bride

The Lake Hill Women's Institute room was a veritable garden of gorgeous Summer flowers on Monday afternoon when the ladies were hostesses at afternoon tea, given in honor of one of their members, Mrs. L. Gray, a recent bride. The tea table was covered with a handsome drawn linen tea cloth, the handiwork of Mrs. Porter, who with Mrs. Myles, was responsible for the other decorations. An elegant silver basket of tiny pink roses and delicate blue flowers was used as a centrepiece. At the tea urns were Mesdames Mercer, Sr., and Scott; Mrs. Scott herself being a bride of fifty years. After tea, Mrs. Gray was presented with a very handsome silver pie plate, the collective gift of the institute, and graciously voiced her thanks. Numerous other guests arrived in time for tea, when more gifts were showered on the popular bride.

Miscellaneous Shower

Miss Madge Hersey, whose marriage will take place the end of June, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given by the Misses Louise and Helen Marsh at their home, 1352 Carnsew Street, on Tuesday evening. The supper table was decorated with a miniature bride and groom standing in a flower-decked garden with a little path, leading to an artistically drawn house, in which the many gifts were concealed. Cards were played during the evening, the prizes being won by Misses Dorothy Higgs and Muriel Lawrence. The invited guests included Mrs. Hersey, Mrs. Marsh, Misses Bessie Milne, Muriel Lawrence, Jean Hyslop, Marjorie Hoops, Jean Morley, Phyllis Bayliss, Marjory Todd, Jean Taylor, Muriel Butcher, Dorothy Higgs and Jean Marsh.

Manifold Activities Reviewed

A year of manifold activities was reviewed in the comprehensive twenty-seventh annual report submitted by the Women's Canadian Club secretary, Mrs. T. A. Johnston, at the annual meeting of the organization held at the Empress Hotel on Tuesday.

The report showed that the club has 1,003 members in good standing; and the treasurer, Mrs. P. E. Taylor, in her audited financial statement, showed that of the total receipts of $2,155.41, the sum of $985 was for membership dues. The club presented two $100 bursaries to H. Paul Smith and Phyllis W. Awinack, both students of Victoria High School; and among the other prizes awarded during the year were the Canadian history prize, to Mary Worledge, of Margaret Jenkins School; and the awards, in connection with the annual sewing competition of the silver tea service, to Sir James Douglas and George Jay Schools jointly.

Donations were made to the Y.W.C.A. Travelers' Aid and Household Training, to the National Parks Association, the Children's Aid, the Peace International organization, the Friendly Help, and the Lady Bessborough Gift Fund. The club has also sent flowers weekly to the Women's Canadian Club ward at the Jubilee Hospital.

The financial statement showed total disbursements for the year amounting to $2,036.95, the balance in the bank at May 31, 1936, being $464.13. The balance in the bank at June 1, 1935, was $345.67, bringing the gross receipts for 1936 to $2,501.08.

Mrs. Donald McAdie and Mrs. Alfred Carmichael respectively moved the votes of thanks to Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Taylor.

Will Spend Summer Here

MRS. NORMAN McCONNELL

Of Ottawa, who has arrived in Victoria to spend the Summer months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Tait, Roslyn Road. Mrs. McConnell will return to the East in late September, to join her husband, who is spending the Summer months in Quebec City.

TODAY'S RECIPE

STRAWBERRY CREME—One pint strawberries, one cup powdered sugar, one egg white, unbeaten; pinch salt, one teaspoon plain gelatin, two tablespoons cold water, one-half pint whipping cream. Soak gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Dissolve over hot water. Add sugar to berries, crush through ricer or sieve, removing pulp. Add egg white and salt. Beat until light and foamy. Beat in softened gelatin, chill, beat again, add whipped cream (day-old coffee cream may be used). Return to freezing unit for about five hours. Very smooth. Serves eight.

Entertain Delegates Of Lodge

Esther Chapter No. 19, Order of the Eastern Star, of Port Angeles, were visitors in the city yesterday, making the Strathcona Hotel their headquarters.

The delegates came to Victoria to put on the chapter's work at a meeting of the Queen City Chapter No. 5 in the Shrine Auditorium last night. Mrs. Georgia Harris, worthy matron of the Esther Chapter, was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers by Mrs. R. L. Cox, worthy matron of Queen City Chapter, on behalf of the members, at the close of the work.

Prior to the meeting, officers of Queen City Chapter entertained the Port Angeles members to dinner at the Dominion Hotel. During the afternoon, they were taken for drives around Victoria. They will return to Port Angeles this morning.

REGISTERED GUESTS

Members of the order registered at the Strathcona Hotel are as follows: Miss M. Cowling, Mrs. G. Cowling, Mrs. P. Taylor, Mrs. J. Harvey, Miss H. Johnston, Mrs. A. Kemp, Mrs. A. M. Ekoos, Mrs. C. H Harvey, Mrs. Sophia Shay, Mrs. A. B McCart, Mrs. Nora Schiller, Mrs. Edith Bayton, Mrs. Edwin Greenbrook, Mrs. B. E. Walking, Mrs. E. Schlago, Mrs. W. H. Porter, Mrs. John McDonald, Mrs. P. Irous, Mrs. Margaret H. Parr, Mrs. Roberta Oakes, Miss Barbara Sawly, Miss Hattie Page, Mrs. George Lozzedell, Mrs. Rachel Shafton, Mrs. Bertha Dunnings, Mrs. Georgia Harris, and Mrs. W. Longfellow, patron of the chapter.

Presentation to Be Made Sunday To Robert Ward

In connection with the ordination of Robert Ward, B.A., which is to take place in St. John's Church on Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service, the authorities of St. John's Church are making arrangements for a presentation to Mr. Ward, who was baptized and confirmed in the Quadra Street Anglican Church.

The presentation will take place at an informal reception, which will be held in St. John's schoolroom immediately after the evening service on Sunday. At this service Mr. Ward will give his first sermon after his ordination, and the presentation will be made by S. C. Hawkins and R. E. Burns churchwardens of St. John's, on behalf of the congregation. Rev. Canon Chadwick, rector of the parish, will preside.

What Today Means

"GEMINI"

If June 11 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., from 3 to 5 p.m., and from 8 to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 9 to 11 a.m., from 5 to 7 p.m. and from 10 p.m. until midnight.

Be careful that morbid curiosity does not lead you into a crowd and trouble. Inquisitiveness is likely to be the predominating trait noticeable in many people this day. Prying and officiousness are apt to start most of the day's quarrels. Be careful in the receiving or giving of directions, as there is danger of their being misunderstood. A tendency to make mistakes in addressing parcels and letters must be guarded against. Financial transactions are likely to prove highly satisfactory. Business men will be inclined as a rule to procrastinate. This perhaps is going to prove costly, for any delay in attending to important matters is poor judgment. Any form of sensationalism brought into social life can be expected to produce unfavorable reactions. Married and engaged couples, as well as those telling or listening to "the sweetest story ever told," must be very circumspect in their behavior this day, so as to escape unkind criticism.

If a woman and June 11 is your birthday, you probably believe in doing a lot of deliberating before making a decision. Being overly cautious might be as poor a policy as disregarding ordinary precautions. With very little effort on your part you can make many friends as well as enjoy an excellent social position. Dame Fortune probably will treat you most kindly, particularly in helping you solve any financial problem. As a social welfare worker, secretary, insurance or real estate broker, writer, musician or lecturer, your results ought to be gratifying. Marriage possibly will turn out to be the medium through which your greatest happiness will come.

The child born on June 11 perhaps will decide on a professional career when it reaches its majority. There are many indications that the youngster born on this date will be very successful.

If a man and June 11 is your natal day, you will have to maintain a liberal line of thought and be progressive, if you are ambitious to become wealthy. As a clergyman, physician, inventor, painter, astronomer, educator or industrial sales engineer you may win through to the goal of your ambition.

Mt. Maxwell Objective of Alpine Club

Mount Maxwell, Saltspring Island, was the object of the party of six members of the Vancouver Island section of the Alpine Club of Canada last week-end. The party left Victoria on Saturday morning. On arriving at Burgoyne Bay, camp was pitched, and early Sunday morning, in a drizzle that continued throughout the day, the ascent of the mountain was made via the Chimney. Some good rope work was offered, and the outing was much enjoyed.

Several members intend going to the annual camp of the Alpine Club of Canada in the Rockies this Summer, and are taking every opportunity to train for the strenuous work that will be available there. The Vancouver Island section plans to make the ascent of Mount Arrowsmith the week-end of August 22 and 23, and the annual camp at the Lake of the Seven Hills will be the first week of September.

Romantic Trip For Pretty Girl From Quebec City

"All I have to do in the next three weeks is to learn English and contract bridge," declared pretty, petite Marthe Forte, of Montreal, as she sailed last night for Indo-China on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia.

During her Pacific crossing to Hongkong, the tiny, vivacious Montreal girl explained, she hopes to master the complicated English tongue and whip the Culbertson system into a cocked hat, all this to please M. Paul Mottell, of Lyons, France, and Saigon, Indo-China. He is a rubber planter in the Far East, and they will be married about July 15.

They met in Montreal during a business trip which the Frenchman made to the Quebec metropolis, and a whirlwind courtship led to Miss Forte's 8,000-mile romantic voyage.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

LAKE HILL

Wednesday, July 15, is the date set by the Lake Hill Institute for its annual picnic, to be held at Cordova Bay. Friends will be welcomed, and are assured of a good time. The bus will leave Lake Hill Community Hall at 10 a.m.

Many Entries In For Exhibition

TORONTO, June 10 (CP)—Public schools from as far away as Grenfell and Yorkton, Sask., and Edmonton, have already sent entries to the art, manual training, needlework and other competitions at the Canadian National Exhibition here this year. Toronto and suburban public schools have forwarded a total of 60,000 entries.

BOY SCOUT PARTY

St. Paul's Boy Scout Troop will hold a garden party on Saturday on the St. Paul's Garrison Church grounds. Engineer-Commander T. C. Phillips, R.C.N., will open the function at 2:30 p.m. Tea will be served.

DEFICIT RISKS ARE STRESSED

Prof. E. S. Farr Talks to Credit Granters' Association of Victoria

Suddenly discovering the elasticity of credit, governments have been operating in an era of budgetary deficits and thereby taking great risks, Professor E. S. Farr, of Victoria College, told Credit Granters' Association of Victoria during a luncheon meeting in Spencer's dining-room on Tuesday. T. W. MacPherson presided.

Professor Farr declared there had been more "gimcrack" ideas on finances during the past eight years than the world had seen for ages. Too many persons would like to tamper with financial policies, little realizing money itself bore a negligible position. He predicted ideas of Premier William Aberhart in Alberta would lead to extremely heavy taxation, and policies of Mayor G. G. McGeer had a general trend in the direction of inflation.

President F. D. Roosevelt thought the National Recovery Act would provide a substantial base upon which might be erected a larger credit superstructure. In a recent address at Harvard University, Herbert Hoover urged the institution to exchange its bonds for stocks, because he said stocks, and not bonds, would advance with inflation, Professor Farr related.

CREDIT IMPORTANT

Credit, Professor Farr stated, was far more important than most persons thought. Money itself was not the criterion. There was a large enough gold structure to supply twice the present credit structure. Money was only potent when banks loaned it out at reasonable rates and when borrowers were ready to accept commitments.

Credit had a particular social value in that it assisted production by provision of labor in seasonal occupations, and provided funds for individuals or organizations in times of need, Professor Farr asserted. It also allowed business expansion and organization of new businesses, provided means to increase equipment, and allowed a customer to secure any particular kind of merchandise he wanted.

Professor Farr paid tribute to the work of the Credit Granters' Association, mentioning that the organization might also be enlarged to provide market information and outlining special advertising.

LOCAL OPTION IS CRIME DETERRENT

J. Malton Murray Gives Talk on Prohibition in Metropolitan Institute

One-sixth of the population of New Zealand lives in districts in which no intoxicating liquor is sold, and in those areas there is not a fraction the crime found in sections possessing bars, J. Malton Murray told an audience in Metropolitan Institute on Tuesday evening. Rev. W. R. Brown presided.

Mr. Murray came here from New Zealand, and is making a tour of the world to study prohibition and control of liquor in the various countries.

Telling of prohibition work in New Zealand, Mr. Murray said a campaign was under way to stress the evil effects of alcohol to both young and old persons. He regretted that safe automobile driving campaigns in Canada and the United States did not deal with the staggering number of accidents caused through drinking.

Mr. Murray showed a number of colored lantern slides of the Maoris and their surroundings and scenery of New Zealand, which he said in some respects resembled British Columbia.

NAME DELEGATES FOR CONVENTION

Saanich Conservative Ass'n. Selects Ten Representatives for Vancouver Meeting

Members of the Saanich Conservative Association on Tuesday night elected their delegates to the provincial convention to be held in Vancouver at the end of the month, endorsed four resolutions to be submitted to the resolutions committee at the convention, and instructed the secretary to write a letter of congratulation to Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie on his election to the House of Commons.

The meeting also decided to change the date of the annual picnic from July 1 to June 23, the King's birthday. The change of date was made because of the provincial convention.

The delegates appointed were as follows: A. R. Sherwood, H. Holmes F. Blackmore, W. A. Dean, Mrs. H. McQueen, P. Mickleburgh, Miss H. M. Fletcher, Mrs. W. H. Carr, H. A. Hunt and Mrs. H. Lawrie. Brian Hoole will attend as president of the Saanich association.

CHAPTER VIII

"Is Mr. Wick married?" Gay asked.

Marchand blinked impatiently.

"Of course he's married. They're always married."

"I've never been out with a married man."

Picking up a pencil, he tapped it against his desk.

"I want his order. You understand that, don't you? If I don't get it . . ."

Gay got up. Her lashes hid her eyes.

"Evening clothes. Look your best. You can wear anything in the shop," and he told her at what hotel to meet John Wick and at what time.

She selected a green chiffon dress and a silver coat, and dressed in the dressing-room of the store. When she came out and gave a cab driver the address of the hotel, she was shivering. Oh, let him be understanding! Let him be nice! What would her father say if he knew she were selling a part of her soul, cheapening herself, degrading herself, to keep her and her mother from charity or the pity of their friends?

John Wick, a big florid man with merry eyes and deep laughter, found her in the lobby. He took her arm and led her to the dining-room.

"Marchand never sent me a red-head before," he said. "The lid's off tonight."

She could not eat, and the shallow gay things that were expected of her struck in her throat before they were said. For a moment she felt a wave of hysteria pass over her; she was filled with loathing for herself and for this man. She was afraid to look around the dining-room, imagining people saying, "So that's what Gay Van Avery has come to!"

When he asked her to dance, she said, "Not now. I'm rather tired," and her eyes implored him to understand and to spare her.

"Girls like you aren't supposed to be tired," he retorted tersely. "You get paid for this. I know the game. And I don't think you're much of a sport. This is all pretty painful to you. Anybody can see that." He drew out his wallet and beckoned for the waiter. "I'm going to take you home. But as far as I'm concerned, the evening's been wasted."

She drew the silver coat over her shoulders and got up. Then she saw Chris! Chris—frowning through the smoke, turning a tall glass 'round and 'round in his hand!

"Will you excuse me just a minute?" she asked John Wick. "There is some one I must see!"

"Am I seeing things?" Chris Mallory asked, seeing Gay standing beside him. His white teeth flashed a warm smile. "Gay . . ."

And in her name was everything, all his loneliness for her, his love . . .

The orchestra was playing a stirring Cuban song. There was the noise of the clatter of dishes, the movement of waiters, people passing, and dancers' feet.

"Chris, I'm in trouble." She stood close to him. The gardenias that John Wick had given here were tremulous on her shoulder. "I'm out with a customer and I'm supposed to show him a good time. I don't know how to be a play-girl! Marchand wants his order. If he doesn't get, I'll lose my job!"

"Where is this guy?" Chris asked. "He wants a good time? Okay. We'll show it to him. I know spots he's never been in. Are you good until dawn?"

"With you along I won't be so—so scared, Chris. I . . ."

"Don't say it. I'll get you out of this jane but I didn't want to see you again."

She introduced the men. Chris said, "Gay's been telling me your evening's been a kind of washout, Mr. Wick. She's new to this business and she's worried because you aren't enjoying yourself. So I volunteered my services. I've covered every corner of this town and I know places. If you don't object to a third party, we'll make a night of it. What do you say? You aren't going to hold it against a girl who hasn't been around . . ."

Wick cleared his throat. "I—I'm sorry. I didn't know it was like that, Miss Van Avery. I'm sorry, indeed."

She put her arm through Chris' She said, "Hold onto me, Chris—tight—and don't let me out of your sight."

Never in her life did she dance so much; never in her life did she feel that she was dancing above the world. The evening was a series of cabs and a series of places—from night clubs where society danced and drank, and the price of the orchestra ran into four figures, to waterfront restaurants where sailors and freighter captains drank beer and had the horizons of far-off places in their wise eyes.

To Gay's astonishment, John Wick became a jovial man who left the responsibility of a large store and a large family in his home city on his annual visit to New York.

Music, and Chris holding her . . . Chris' dark eyes that gave messages his' lips would not say. Gay felt intoxicated with the music and the strongest arms that had ever held her.

The green chiffon dress was crushed, the gardenias had withered, and her red curls had the dampness of the dawn on them when they went to a well-known mid-town restaurant for ham and eggs when the first bright colors of dawn streaked the sky over tall buildings.

Drinking coffee, Chris asked, "Well, how was it, Mr. Wick?"

"I'm going back to my hotel and sleep a week."

"Please don't," said Gay, putting butter on toast.

"Oh, you mean the order! I'll take care of that." He looked at her. "You're too nice a girl to have your kind of job."

On the way home in a cab Gay fell asleep. Chris put his arm around her and put her head on his shoulder. He wished they could go on riding like this together to a place where there would be no reminder of Alan Riggs and the other things, and people that estranged them now.

He had stayed away, and as Gay had looked for him, so he had looked for her, though he knew how futile it was to love her. A stroke of luck would happen to her—and Alan Riggs, loving her, would come back to her. What had he, Chris Mallory, to offer her? The helter-skelter life of a newspaperman and small, shabby rooms where her beauty would be wasted? His play . . . he was writing it with his blood, writing a happy ending to Gay's love story, sending her back to Alan . . .

He would never forget tonight. In the pattern of their acquaintance it stood out vividly—Gay, close to him, her red curls upon his shoulder, her eyes questioning. Eyes that were not sure—eyes that did not yet know her heart.

When the cab stopped before the familiar house and Gay awoke with a start, Chris Mallory scoffed at the fate that had brought them together—the society girl and the reporter—although he knew that had he not met her, he would have gone on, hoping and groping for the one woman for him. An ironic shaping of things had brought them together. It had shown him a girl he was to love all his life but a girl he could never have.

In the dark narrow hall she stood close to him. It was above all the sordid things, her feeling for Chris.

"I've missed you," she said. "Haven't you missed me?"

His mouth was grim. "I've missed you like a devil."

"Aren't you going to see me again?"

"Why? See you and love you and know I'll never have you?" He smiled. "Oh, I'll turn up now and then . . ."

"When I need you."

"There is only one thing to keep me from being a fool," he said. "That is to leave New York."

"You're afraid to love me, Chris."

"You don't love me. You like me. That's fine, but that's not enough. I haven't anything to offer you and I'm not going to become involved. I'm going to clear out. Try to get a job somewhere else—another country perhaps."

"You've done more for me than anyone has ever done, Chris. Where were all the people tonight who used to flock around me to get an invitation to my parties? Where were they? If they thought of me at all, they thought, 'poor Gay. She's finished and forgotten.' But you . . ."

"I'd have done as much for anybody in a spot. You'd better get some sleep."

She looked up. "Chris, don't go away. I'm still mixed up. Everything bewilders me. I feel lost. Some day I'll find myself."

"Sure you will. But I won't be in the picture. I'm an intruder, and I know it. I'm a hick with a little polish on my shoes and I probably won't amount to much. I don't care about anything—if I have to get ahead by graft and handshaking. I wouldn't do that—even for you. The woman who marries me will have a pretty hectic life, but it'll be a full life and we'll have fun. Good night, Gay. Forgive the sermon."

He drew her close and put his lips against her forehead.

"We said goodbye before, but it's final this time," he said. "I wish you luck and happiness."

He was gone. She stared after him, shivering in the light silver wrap. And she came down from the splendid shining heights where Chris lived, knowing she could never climb them again—without him.

When she went into the apartment and closed the door, there were tears in her eyes. Without Chris the way ahead was all uphill.

The Excruciating Pains of Rheumatism

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

We recognize in rheumatic disorders a diseased condition of the blood containing uric acid which is the cause of this irritating and painful trouble.

Rheumatism leaves in its train, distorted joints, crooked limbs, crippled hands, and the intense pain and agony is almost unbearable.

Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood by driving out the uric acid. Get rid of your rheumatic pains by using B.B.B.

JUNIOR CHAMBER TO HEAR OF MAORI FOLK LORE FRIDAY NIGHT

The only white woman interpreting the unusual folk lore of the Maori people, Miss Bathie Stuart, publicity representative of the New Zealand Railways and of the New Zealand Government, will address a general meeting of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce committee rooms.

Miss Stuart is a well known speaker in California, and many have heard her relate in fascinating language the story of the development and progress of the Maoris and New Zealand. She illustrates her legends with the interpretations of songs, chants and dances.

RUB ELBOWS WITH HOLLYWOOD STARS

Rubbing elbows with the movie colony's celebrities is a nightly experience for Miss Dorothy Wharton and Miss Lynne House, publicity writer and social director, respectively, of the Knickerbocker Hotel in Hollywood, who are holidaying here. They are seeing Victoria for the first time and they are pleased with the beautiful Empress Hotel, where they are staying.

Miss Wharton writes for the publicity department of the R.K.O. motion picture studios. Those studios are at present busily engaged, she said, on the famous story, "Mary of Scotland." Katharine Hepburn, chosen for the title role because of her acknowledged dramatic ability, brings to the part a remarkable resemblance to the ill-fated Scottish Queen, the visitor explained.

Miss Wharton and Miss House explained the management of the Knickerbocker Hotel officially opened the Summer season on June 2, when George Brent, Patricia Ellis, Claudia Coleman, Francis Lederer and "Ginger" Rogers were among the noted motion picture stars present.

REORGANIZATION OF PROVINCIAL MOTOR ASSOCIATION URGED

Another letter urging the reorganization of the British Columbia Automobile Club has been received by T. J. Goodlake, secretary of the Victoria Automobile Club. This communication was received from A. B. Mackay, chairman of the Western division of the Canadian Automobile Association.

Mr. Mackay intimated much could be done with a provincial automobile club in every province. The writer also proposed a conference of Western Canada clubs in Vancouver this Summer, to assist in the formation of a British Columbia body.

Mr. Goodlake will place the letter before club directors at the next meeting of the board.

A British Columbia club was formed in 1925, but discontinued activities in 1932. Mr. Goodlake explained.

Both Networks to Broadcast Today From Convention

ALTHOUGH the United States Republican convention at Cleveland is scheduled to nominate its candidates for president and vice-president today, officials of the N.B.C. and C.B.S. chains in Tacoma and Seattle were last night unable to give definite time schedules. The N.B.C. Blue Network and KJR, Seattle, will be on the air from 7 o'clock this morning for an indefinite period, while C.B.S. and KOL and KVI will broadcast from the convention from 8:30 a.m. until about 11 a.m. Broadcasts will be heard both in the afternoon and evening. Announcers will disclose the time the nomination votes will be cast during this morning's programme.

MANY EAGER FOR TRAINING

B.C. Forest Camp Scheme Launched With Full Complement of Young Men

Approximately 1,000 young men between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five had applied to the Province for inclusion in forest training camps, fire trail crews and rangers' assistants, up to the close of registration this week, it was intimated yesterday by the British Columbia Forest Branch.

Half of the applicants cannot be accepted under the scheme, but will be given preference in the placer mining scheme when it opens next month, it was said.

CAMPS OPENED

Meanwhile, forest training camps have been reopened at Cowichan Lake, Green Timbers and at Aleza Lake, serving different areas in the province, with about 150 men under training now. In addition, several hundred men will be attached to trail-breaking crews, and others put to work in pairs under the guidance of forest rangers.

The forestry scheme, as announced recently by Hon. George S. Pearson, is designed to give several months' work this Summer to young men accepted for a useful training in forestry matters. The same plan was followed last year with good results, numbers of the men passing into permanent employment in private industry.

Details of the mining scheme are not yet available, but it is unofficially expected that much the same course will be followed this year as last, with greater attention to the opening of mining trails in various parts of the province. Practical courses in elementary geology and prospecting are to be continued, it was learned.

ROAD CONDITION IS REPORTED ON

Provincial Engineers Say Main Highways Reopened After Flood Damage—Island Normal

"Road conditions throughout the Province appear now to be normal with a few exceptions," Provincial engineers reported yesterday. Vancouver Island, of course, has not been affected by flood conditions.

"On the Mainland, and particularly on the Trans-Provincial Highway, care is necessary, although the roads generally are open to normal traffic. At Chilliwack, motorists should detour via Sardis to Lickman Road, and the Rosedale Ferry is closed at time of writing on account of Ferry Slough Bridge. North of Yale, in the Fraser Canyon, caution is advised, and the same conditions apply from Ashcroft to Kamloops.

REPAIRS UNDER WAY

"Travelers to the Okanagan Valley must expect to encounter rough roads from Spences Bridge to Princeton, and particularly between Spences Bridge and Merritt, where a considerable amount of debris has to be removed, but this condition is being corrected. A considerable amount of reconstruction work is being done between Osoyoos and Penticton, and drivers must proceed with caution.

"The Castlegar Ferry is operating, and all roads in the Cariboo district are reported in normal condition at the present time.

"With those exceptions, normal travel is entirely practicable, and the road situation is well in hand," the report furnished yesterday by the Provincial Information Bureau stated.

We want an aim that can never grow vile, and which cannot disappoint our hope. There is but one such on earth, and it is that of being like God. He who strives after union with perfect love must grow out of selfishness, and his success is secured in the omnipotent holiness of God.—S. Brooke.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

SHREWD CARD PLAYING

It is just as inexcusable for a declarer to overlook the preceding bidding in planning his plays as it would be for a mariner to throw his chart overboard when entering a dangerous, rock-strewn passage. Bridge is difficult enough. There is no need to make it even more difficult by deliberately closing one's eyes to any sort of guide.

In the hand shown below, the declarer made a shrewd inference from one bid of an opponent, and thereby fulfilled a vulnerable game contract.

West, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ Q J 9 7
♥ 7 5
♦ 9 8 6 2
♣ K J 9

WEST
♠ 8 2

♦ Q 5 4
♣ Q 7 3

SOUTH
♠ A K 10 4
♥ Q 9
♦ K J 10 3
♣ A 8 5

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 ♥	Pass	1 NT	Double
Pass	2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♠ (final bid)

East opened the deuce of hearts, dummy played low, and West's king won. The ace of hearts followed, after which West led a trump. Declarer won with the nine and immediately played a low diamond, finessing against the queen when East followed with a low card. West took the ace and returned another spade. Dummy's ace won and a third round of spades to North's jack cleaned up the trump situation.

Now the declarer took stock. He already had lost two tricks in hearts and one in diamonds. It was vital to avoid the loss of a club trick to the queen (the diamond queen already had been located by the finesse in East's hand). The natural way to finesse the club, since declarer lacked the ten spot, was up to the K-J, hoping the queen lay in West's hand. But the declarer took thought of the bidding. East had responded with one no trump to his partner's opening heart bid. He had done so with no honor in spades, none higher than the jack in hearts, only the queen in diamonds. Why, he must have the queen of clubs also, or he certainly would have passed to the one heart bid.

On this flawless reasoning, declarer decided to take what is known as a "backward finesse." He laid down the jack of clubs from his own hand. He knew that if East held the Q-10, nothing could be done about it, but since the queen was located definitely by his reasoning, he could only hope that West had the ten spot.

His logic was well rewarded. East covered the club jack, dummy's ace won, and then a finesse to the nine spot in his own hand was crowned with success. Later, the established diamond finesse against East's queen clinched the victory.

TODAY'S QUESTION

♠ A K 4 ♥ A K 6 4 ♦ A K 3 ♣ 9 7 6

Answer — No. It contains six honor tricks, but six and one-half losing tricks as well. The correct opening bid is one heart.

MUSICAL FILM IS ON PLAZA SCREEN

Harry Richman Plays Leading Role In "Music Goes 'Round"—Strong Cast Seen

Harry Richman, foremost of America's singing stars, heads the star-bright cast which includes, among others, Rochelle Hudson, Walter Connolly, Edward Farley and Mike Riley, composers of the title song and the toasted favorites of Broadway's sophisticated night clubs; the glorious-voiced Michael Bartlett, Grace Moore's singing partner in "Love Me Forever"; Douglas Dumbrille, Lionel Stander, whose buzz-saw voice sounds Chopinesque to comedy lovers; Henry Mollison, Etienne Girardot and Victor Killian.

Among the featured entertainers are Rhoda and Peppino, well-known dance team; the Bayou Belles, fairest of Hollywood's loveliest dance virtuosi; Les Hite's famous orchestra, and a host of the finest negro singers and comedians either side of the Mason-Dixon Line.

DOMINION THEATRE Pioneer Pictures' spectacular terpsichorean romance, "Dancing Pirate," the first feature-length motion picture of its kind ever photographed under the new full-color Technicolor process, is now showing at the Dominion Theatre, with an all-star cast including Charles Collins, Frank Morgan, Steffi Duna, Luis Alberni, Victor Varconi, Jack LaRue, the Royal Cansino family, scores of famous dancers and the Three Huapango Rhythm Kings, of Mexico City.

CAPITOL THEATRE Again the matchless genius of Frank Capra has asserted itself and brought to the screen a triumph of the highest calibre. To this director's last three films—"Lady for a Day," "It Happened One Night" and "Broadway Bill," each of them fine enough to warm the heart of an ordinary director for the duration of his professional life—is added "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," now at the Capitol Theatre, with Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur in the important roles.

Romance on Ship Theme of Picture

Ann Sothern, lovely blonde Columbia star, who is usually cast as a musical comedy heroine, is given an opportunity to prove she is made of sterner stuff in the Columbia nautical drama, "Eight Bells," directed by Roy William Neill, now at the Columbia Theatre.

Miss Sothern is featured as a spoiled debutante who daringly slips aboard a dirty freighter as a stowaway. Before the ship reaches Shanghai, Miss Sothern has wrecked the crew's morale, brought about an open fracas between the captain and the first officer, lost a fiance and found a husband.

"Orders Is Orders," With James Gleason and Charlotte Greenwood, Is Featured

Based on the phenomenally successful play by Ian Hay and Anthony Armstrong, "Orders Is Orders," opening today at the Atlas Theatre, is concerned with an American film producer, who, without previous intimation or even "by your leave," barges into a British barracks and proposes to film.

The film producer has a lady assistant, Wanda, who cajoles and blandishes the colonel into consenting and eventually induces him to play a part in the film. In the midst of the turmoil, the brigadier arrives on a surprise visit, witn results that may be readily imagined.

This bald recital of the story gives no idea of the many farcical situations arising from the plot, or of the extremely brilliant work of the players.

COLUMBIA TO PRESENT RUSSIAN FILM MONDAY

The Russian film epic, "Chapayev," will open Monday at the Columbia Theatre.

This film tells the story of a peasant commander, an untutored military genius, whose bravery and leadership carry his men to victory against the Imperial troops.

"Chapayev" presents the intensely dramatic episode of a psychological attack, a silent, gripping manoeuvre executed by columns of Imperial officers to disrupt the morale of Chapayev's raw troops.

The outcome is history, for the story is based on the actual campaign conducted by Chapayev and as related in the diaries of Furmanov, the commissar assigned to his division.

Human interest is added by the love of the orderly, Pyetka, for the lovely machine gun girl, Anka. Anka's role was inspired by the figure of Maria Popova, alive today in Russia, who lived the part during Chapayev's campaign.

RESTROOMS AT BORDER NEEDED

Local Publicity Bureau Pressing For Facilities in Blaine Customs House

Continuing its crusade in the interests of tourists, whose value of British Columbia is well known, the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau has written to various Federal Government officials and travel association executives in an endeavor to have restrooms included in the new Canadian customs buildings to be built shortly at Blaine, at the international boundary line.

George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, dispatched a telegram to Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence and British Columbia's representative in the Federal Cabinet. Mr. Warren spoke of rejected appeals from the local bureau to have restrooms included in the new buildings, and implored the minister to investigate the matter. The publicity commissioner pointed out that some accommodation should be provided, as 20,000 persons availed themselves of facilities in the old buildings last year.

Mr. Warren also sent telegrams to D. Leo Doland, head of the Canadian Travel Bureau, and George A. McNamee, secretary of the Canadian Association of Tourist and Publicity Bureaus.

TO BUILD NEW CHURCH

VANCOUVER, June 10 (C.P.)—The congregation of Chown United Church, which was destroyed by fire on May 8, today decided to erect a new church on a site south and west of the site of the old building. Cost of the new building will be approximately $40,000.

UPLANDS FINAL ASSURED IN WOMEN'S GOLF MEET

Out-of-Town Bike Riders Expected To Enter Tonight

Vancouver Contingent for Fourteenth Annual Daily Colonist Event, Carded Tomorrow Evening, Should Be Filed Today—List Will Be Released This Evening for Big Race

Entries for The Daily Colonist fourteenth annual bicycle race tomorrow night are coming fast. While the list was to have been closed last night it is known that several riders, who have announced their intention to ride, have been unable to get their entries in the hands of the officials. To accommodate these and to make the list even more outstanding it has been decided to accept entries up to 6 p.m. today. Entry forms may be secured from The Colonist office or any bicycle dealer in the city or province.

The race will again be ridden under the protection of police supervision, the Saanich, city and provincial forces having consented to co-operate. Their help is invaluable, both in keeping the course clear and in controlling the thousands of spectators at the finishing line. They will be assisted in this work by members of the Victoria Motorcycle Club. The public can also do much in helping the officers in their work. All residents along the eight-and-a-half mile course are requested to tie their dogs up during the race. It can easily be seen that a barking dog could spoil the chances of a rider. Another point where the co-operation of the public is requested is in keeping the course clear of parked cars along Quadra Street, south from Finlayson Road. It is at this point that the riders buckle down for the final burst of speed and any congestion means that the man behind is bottled up and cannot get through, even if he has the speed.

VALUABLE TROPHY

Many handsome prizes are at stake, including The Colonist Cup, valued at $150. A display of the awards is made in the window of Robinson's Bicycle Store on Broad Street. The Francis Cup goes to the rider who cuts down last year's time by the greatest margin in class "A" or "B," while a similar trophy donated by the Victoria Cycling Club goes to the rider in class "C," "D," or "E," who beats last year's record for these classes.

Riders are divided into classes, carefully chosen in order that all may have a fair chance of winning a prize. "A" class is for riders over the age of sixteen, using racing bicycles, Class "B," for those over sixteen using machines with tires not less than an inch and a quarter. Class "C" is for boys under sixteen, "D" class, for those under fourteen, and class "E," for those under thirteen. The course is as follows: Starting at Quadra and Kings Road, via Hillside and Douglas Street to Glanford Avenue. Along Glanford to the Saanich Health Centre and back to the starting point via Saanich Road and Quadra Street.

The race is scheduled to start at 7:30 and officials reiterate the necessity for punctuality on the part of the riders. Class "A" will get away sharp at the half hour, and the other classes will follow at intervals of two minutes.

Every rider will be presented with a free ticket for a swim in the Crystal Garden immediately following the race, through the courtesy of Manager A. H. Cowlishaw. The facilities of the Y.M.C.A. lockers and showers has been offered out of town riders by Secretary F. Paulding.

INSPECTOR J. H. BOLTON

WHO will be in charge of the traffic control at the Colonist Bicycle Race tomorrow night. The inspector asks the co-operation of every spectator in keeping the course clear during the race.

IN FIRST PLACE

Pounding out a 15-10 victory over the Saanichton nine, Sidney's hard-hitting softballers batted their way into first berth in the "B" Section pennant race last evening. A barrage of hits in the ninth frame, that brought them eight tallies, gave Sidney a sweet triumph.

Score by innings:

Sidney	002 002 308—15
Saanichton	000 104 221—10

Batteries: Byers and Echardt; Michell, Poulson, Turgoose and Sluggett.

BRUINS WIN

Painter's Bruins were forced to come from behind to defeat the lowly Hollywood Club squad at Savory Park. The clubmen drove over four markers in the second frame and stayed out in front until the seventh inning.

Lloyd Simpson started on the mound for the fuelmen, but was replaced by his brother Bert after Hollywood had pushed across four markers. "Rosy" McLellan worked for seven frames for the losers and was relieved after six runners had crossed the plate.

Score by innings:

Painter's Bruins	000 003 301—7
Hollywood Club	040 000 001—5

Batteries: L. Simpson, B. Simpson and Berry, McLellan, Price and Fletcher.

SEVEN-RUN ATTACK

Bringing their heavy artillery into action in the seventh frame, Togo Cleaners hammered out plenty of base knocks from the offerings of Tommy Johnston and Sid Carr, Tigers' hurlers, and sent seven runners scampering across the home plate. It was the only scoring of the game for the cleaners, but it was in such a substantial quantity that it carried them to victory.

Score by innings:

Togo Cleaners	000 000 700—7
Tigers	000 002 100—3

Batteries: Westgate and Farey; Johnston, Carr and Harris.

NAVY GOES UNDER

Playing on the grounds of the North Saanich Service Club squad, Navy softballers went down to defeat in a one-sided fixture. The home nine hit the ball hard in the pinches and after gaining a 3-0 lead in the initial frame, were never headed. Abercrombie twirled fair ball for the sailors, but his clubmates booted badly behind him.

Score by innings:

All games will commence at 6.15 o'clock.

Jumping Her Way to Olympic Games

Comely Alice Arden, of New York, goes over the high bar as interested watchers stand agape at her fine jumping ability. Alice won the American women's high jump championship in 1934-35-36, and is practically assured a place on the United States Olympic team. Her best mark was 5 feet 3¼ inches. Some idea of the height of the bar can be gleaned by heads of the crowd.

Victoria United Football Eleven Named for Cup Encounter

WITH Ed de Costa, young Esquimalt centre-forward, replacing the veteran John Watt at the pivot position, and "Scotty" Robinson, Victoria West forward, filling the vacancy created by the loss of Gordie Bell, the Victoria United soccer eleven for the Connaught Cup fixture at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon was announced last night as follows: Goal, Louis de Costa; fullbacks, Sammy Essler, Freddy Gibbons; halfbacks, Ronnie Williams, Roy Barnes, Glen Robbins; forwards, "Scotty" Robinson, "Scotty" Stewart, Eddie de Costa, Noel Morgan and George Payne. Substitutes, Jack Cook, George Leggett and John Watt. The kick-off is set for 3 o'clock. T. M. Robb will handle the whistle. The match is creating considerable interest in local and Island football circles, and is expected to attract one of the largest crowds of the season to the enclosure. Victoria United, with a number of victories over Nanaimo in Inter-City League play, will be making their debut as a club in the Connaught Cup series. Yesterday evening at Bullen Park the local side battled to a one-all draw with Esquimalt. Joe Watt scored for the dockers and "Scotty" Stewart for the United. The feature of the game was the work of Harbinson in the Esquimalt net.

FOUR MEMBERS OF HOME CLUB REACH SEMI-FINAL ROUND

Mrs. Jackson, Dorothy Fletcher, Mrs. Mackenzie and Mary Mackenzie-Grieve Survive Second-Round Matches in City Championship—Fixtures Played in Heavy Downpour

TROKING their way through a steady downfall of rain, which made the fairways heavy and the greens extremely tricky, some of which were slow and others comparatively fast, a quartette of home club players moved into the semi-finals of the women's city golf championship yesterday at the Uplands course. Starting off in the forenoon, when the rain was falling heavily, the competitors in the championships and flights were sheltered under large umbrellars, which only protected them from the elements while walking from stroke to stroke. The women didn't seem to care much for the presence of Jupiter Pluvius and played away as if it were a bright sunny day.

With the exception of some brilliant shotmaking by the defending titlist, Mrs. E. Jackson, the day's highlight was the well-earned victory of Mrs. H. G. Mackenzie, "B" Class champion at Uplands, over Mrs. Art Dowell, Uplands Club monarch. The match ended on the seventeenth green, with Mrs. Mackenzie rallying in splendid fashion to gain the decision. The defending champion practically matched stroke for stroke with par to march into the semis with a 7-and-5 victory over Mrs. Cecil Eve, Colwood, while Dorothy Fletcher, tournament medalist, kept in step with the other winners by eliminating Mrs. H. N. Sheffield, Oak Bay, 5 and 3. Mary Mackenzie-Grieve, who is out after a title which has evaded her game for the past three years, put out another Oak Bay player, Mrs. B. R. Philbrick, 4 and 2.

MRS. DOWELL LEADS

Shooting some smart golf early in the match, Mrs. Dowell arrived at the halfway post, 2 up on Mrs. Mackenzie, and looked like a certain winner as the pair headed down the back stretch with the rain falling as steady as when they teed off at the first. Mrs. Mackenzie had a good chance to cut her opponent's lead at the tenth, but let the opportunity slip by. However, she won the short eleventh to be only 1 down, but Mrs. Dowell took the next to go 2 up again. The thirteenth went to Mrs. Mackenzie and then she played the dog-leg fourteenth just about perfectly to square the tussle. The fifteenth was halved and then Mrs. Mackenzie, sensing victory, came back strong to win the next two holes, and, of course, the decision, after a great uphill battle.

Mrs. Jackson served notice that she is out to retain her championship by her one-sided victory over Mrs. Eve. The titleholder played all her shots on the outgoing nine beautifully to reach the turn in 42, just three strokes above perfect figures to be 4 up at the turn. She continued firing a steady stream of shots on the incoming route and closed out the match on the thirteenth green.

MEDALIST ADVANCES

Dorothy Fletcher, the young qualifying round winner of Monday, had matters under control all the way against Mrs. Sheffield. She jumped into an early lead and reached the ninth standing 3 up and victory just aroud the corner. Miss Fletcher was hitting her shots well despite the rain, and her steady game brought her the verdict at the fifteenth.

Mary Mackenzie-Grieve must have liked the weather yesterday, for when she picked up her first city title at Colwood links three years ago she mashied and putted her way through a heavy downpour to win from Mrs. Sayward-Wilson at the nineteenth. Miss Mackenzie-Grieve therefore went out with memories of that Colwood battle against Mrs. B. R. Philbrick and came through with her second straight triumph at the sixteenth green. She reached the turn holding a 1 up lead, increased it at the twelfth to three holes and then to 4 up at the fourteenth. The next two were halved and the match was all over, but not the rain, as it still poured as the pair headed for the clubhouse.

Today, Dorothy Fletcher will meet the tournament's "dark horse," Mrs. Mackenzie, in the upper bracket, and Mrs. Jackson will clash with Miss Mackenzie-Grieve in the other half of the draw. They will tee off at 1 o'clock and 1.05, respectively.

Fishing Competition Will Be Held Sunday

First of Series Will Be Staged at Saanich Arm by Victoria-Saanich Anglers' Association—Many Prizes Are at Stake

The sheltered waters of the picturesque Saanich Arm, one of the most favored fishing spots on Vancouver Island, will present a busy scene Sunday afternoon, as anglers from different parts of the Island assemble for the first of five competitions to be staged this season by the Victoria-Saanich Anglers' Association.

Officials in charge of the meet have completed all the preliminary details, and everything is in readiness for what promises to be the biggest competition in many years.

Considerable improvements have been carried out at "The Anchorage" headquarters of the association, to accommodate what is expected to be a heavy demand for docking space during the weighing-in at the close of the competition. Two men will be on duty to direct the boats.

Percy Stacey has promised the use of a fast launch, with a skilled mechanic aboard, to patrol the waters during the competition. The hoisting of a white flag will quickly bring aid in the case of engine trouble, or need of fuel or oil.

Fish caught early in the day may be weighed in and will be tagged and kept on ice for display at the close of the competition.

BIRTHDAY CAKE

Sunday is approximately the fourth anniversary of the association's activities, and a large birthday cake, replete with four candles and lucky horseshoe decorations, has been donated for the event by McLean's Bakery. The cake will be embellished with the bronze, silver and gold trophy buttons of the Chinook Club, and will be on display in the window of McLean's Bakery, Douglas Street.

Mrs. W. O. Wallace, the official weigher, will be invited to cut and distribute the cake, a portion of which is supposed to bring good luck to the anglers. This important ceremony will follow the presentation of prizes by Dr. Hugh Clarke, president of the association.

The public is invited to witness the weighing-in between 6 o'clock and 7 o'clock, and participate in the celebration. There is ample parking space for cars in the grounds.

The competition is under the direction of the investigation and tackle committee. Committeemen Murtz Dunn and William Rowe will be in charge.

Many of the anglers are planning to camp on the beaches the previous night to enable them to make an early start at daybreak.

PRIZE LIST

The prizes at stake in the competition are as follows: 1, split cane rod, donated by Peden Bros.; 2, English reel, donated by Wilson & Lenfesty; 3, Indian sweater, donated by Frank Cross (Willies' Grocery); 4, sport shirt, donated by George Straith, Ltd.; 5, trolling reel (rowboat special), donated by Hafer Machine Works; 6, ladies' special, donated by Dicks Drygoods; 7 and 8, consolation drawings, donated by McLennan, McFeely & Prior.

During the temporary absence of Beverley Gilson, the secretary, W. J. Halliday will take over his duties. Those wishing further information concerning the competition may get in touch with Halliday at 643 Yates Street.

ROSS SCORES KAYO

The champion weighed 142½, Tonielli 150¾.

Two Hurdlers Go Down

Cadet Oberbeck, from the United States Army track team at Annapolis, is in an awful hurry to clear that hurdle, and the cause is not far to seek. In fact he just had to get over, or pile up with two of his opponents, who had already come to grief in trying to clear the timbers. He successfully evaded the crash and went on to take third place.

MACAULAY GOLF SET ON SUNDAY

Eighteen women golfers will tee off in the qualifying round of the Macaulay Point Golf Club championships on Sunday over the eighteen-hole distance. Leading eight gross scorers will form the championship and the rest will be divided into flights. Players will arrange for their own starting times.

Pairings follow:

Miss I. Holyoak and Mrs. C. S. Brown.

Miss D. Vye and Miss W. Speechly.

Miss D. Aahman and Mrs. A. Swan.

Miss K. Hamber and Miss M. Thorpe.

Mrs. W. Poole and Miss H. Smith.

Miss I. Jarvis and Mrs. J. W. Holyoak.

Miss N. Hocking and Miss A. Bland.

Miss D. Hobbis and Mrs. W. Edwards.

Miss S. Holyoak and Mrs. L. Watson.

Hon. Dr. Tolmie Will Officiate at Big Canine Show

HON. Dr. S. F. Tolmie, who won the by-election in Victoria last Monday, will officiate at the opening of the Victoria Kennel Club Dog Show in the Main Building at the Willows, on Saturday, at 2 o'clock, it was announced yesterday by officials. One of the largest entry lists in recent years is expected and the competition for all breeds should be extremely keen.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

Genius in Five Generations—Among the most outstanding examples of inherited genius is the family of the Morgensterns, master painters of Frankfurt, Germany. The last representative, Friedrich Ernst Morgenstern, was born in 1853 and died in 1919. His father, Carl; his grandfather, Johann Friedrich; his great-grandfather Johann Ludwig, and his great-great-grandfather, Johann Christoph, were all master painters of the first rank.

The Bible Reader—George Kern, of Columbus City, Iowa, has been a devoted Bible reader ever since childhood, but on his fiftieth birthday he decided to read every evening for 5,000 nights. His quickest time for reading the entire Bible is twenty-one evenings. Mr. Kern says he still enjoys his Bible studies because he is continually absorbing the good teachings therefrom.

ENGLAND FAVORED TO CAPTURE WIGHTMAN CUP

Tennis Series to Start Today; Draw For Singles Made

Best Four-Out-of-Seven-Game Series Will Get Under Way With Three Singles on Card—Helen Jacobs Faces Kay Stammers—Bookmakers Offer Odds Against Americans

LONDON, June 10 (AP).—Battle lines for the fourteenth Wightman Cup international tennis series between British and United States women stars were drawn today and immediately experts decided Britain's chances of ending America's five-year supremacy were unusually bright. The best four-matches-out-of-seven series will start Friday, with Helen Jacobs, four-times United States champion, opposing Kay Stammers, left-handed British star; Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan, of Brookline, Mass., meeting Dorothy Round, former Wimbledon titlist, and Mrs. John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, and Carolin Babcock, of Los Angeles, teaming up in the doubles against Nancy Lyle and Evelyn Dearman.

MRS. FABYAN

Saturday's concluding schedule: Mrs. Fabyan vs. Miss Stammers; Miss Jacobs vs. Miss Round; Miss Babcock vs. Ruth Mary Hardwick, and Miss Jacobs and Mrs. Fabyan vs. Miss Stammers and Freda James.

PICKS ENGLAND

Dan Maskell, prominent professional at Wimbledon, where the annual series will be played, picked the English team to win by the score of 4 to 3, while one of England's biggest bookmakers offered 5 to 4 against the Americans.

"I think Miss Stammers will beat Miss Jacobs on Friday," said Maskell. "Helen seems to have lost some of the fire she used to have."

The fact that Miss Stammers defeated Miss Jacobs in three sets on foreign soil last year, and this time will be playing on home ground, was regarded as the basis for his prediction.

PEDLEY LEADS AMERICANS TO POLO VICTORY

Scores Nine Goals in Team's Win Over Engand in Opening Match

LONDON, June 10 (AP).—Fighting with unexpected effect against the smashing power of the United States attack, Great Britain's gallant four horsemen today came thrillingly close to springing a polo upset before yielding finally, ten goals to nine, in the opening match of the International Cup series at Hurlingham Club.

With California's sharpshooting Eric Pedley scoring nine goals, thereby equaling his own record for cup competition, America's latest "Big Four" squeezed out their one-point margin only after nipping a furious British rally in the seventh and last period.

LARGE CROWD

A fashionable crowd of 10,000 witnessed the triumph engineered by the dazzling Pedley, in combination with Michael Phipps, Stewart Iglehart and Winston Guest over a pitched-up British four. It was the ninth straight victory for the Americans in cup competition since 1921 and the closest since 1914. One more will clinch the current series, the first held since 1930, but today's outcome forecast a real last-ditch fight by the home side Saturday in the second match.

After taking the field underdogs at 5-to-1 odds, with virtually no "takers" in sight, the English side, paced by H. Heaketh Hughes, unleashed an onslaught that momentarily nonplussed the invaders. Scoring seven goals, Hughes played inspired polo, belying earlier reports he was a weak link in the British team, which was revamped after injury forced out Rao Rajah Hanut Singh, eight-goal Indian star.

After rolling up a 7-3 lead in the first three periods on six goals by Pedley and one by Guest, the Americans suffered a sinking spell in the fourth chukker when the Gerald Balding - to - Hughes combination leaped to life. Hughes tallied three times, pulling the English to 6-7 while holding the Americans scoreless.

TIES SCORE

Balding, the nine-goal Indian star, paved the way to knot the score at the opening of the sixth period. He dribbled the ball nearly the whole length of the field and then passed it to Captain Humphrey P. Guinness, British back, who scored from a sharp angle.

Only five seconds elapsed, however, when Pedley sent America in front again to stay.

Line-ups:

America—No. 1, Eric Pedley; No. 2, Michael Phipps; No. 3, Stewart Iglehart; back, Winston Guest.

England — No. 1, H. Heaketh Hughes; No. 2, Gerald Balding; No. 3, Eric Tyrrell-Martin; back, Captain Himphrey Guinness.

Scoring — America: Pedley, 9; Guest, 1. England: Hughes, 7; Balding, 1; Guinness, 1.

Free shots: Balding, none out of three.

Centaur of Polo Mallet

An artist wishing to paint a work called "The Polo Player," need look no farther than this picture for excellent composition and action. The man with the mallet, his face half silhouetted against the sky, is Cecil Smith, of the Texas Rangers, seen during the international trial match in which his team was beaten eighteen goals to fifteen by the English players. Notice the pony, with three feet off the ground, nostrils distended, the picture of alertness. Smith is bringing back his arm in a sweeping motion ready to continue his run for the goal. Man and pony seem almost one, in spirit and purpose. The teams meet soon for the Westchester Cup.

GOLF FACTS

NOT THEORIES

By ALEX MORRISON

Ottavio Prochet and Nino Lo Savio, two gentlemen from the other side, have taken up golf. You wouldn't be interested in this if these fellows didn't offer a new slant on instructions. T... both expert f...s, champions, in fact, and because they can see a great similarity between fencing and golf they are apt pupils.

When I demonstrated the need for the proper body action and balance in swinging a club they immediately cited the dependence of the fencer upon foot and leg action for his success in using a foil.

If golfers in general could be made to realize the importance of leg and foot action and the need for training of these members before attempting or expecting to do things with the arms and hands, there would be many instead of just a few good swings.

It seems that the players in every game but golf appreciate the importance of body action. When will you give some attention to this prime essential?

Red Sox Defeat Tigers to Move Closer to Yanks

Narrow Triumph Over Detroit Places Boston Two and a Half Games Back of Leaders—Cubs Nose Out Phillies to Stretch Winning Streak—Pirates Gain Second Berth

AMERICAN LEAGUE

BOSTON, June 10 (AP).—The Red Sox used every one of their five hits today to beat the Detroit Tigers, 4-3, in a close pitching duel. Wes Ferrell nosed out Rookie Clarence Phillips for the hurling honors.

Although outhit 8 to 5, the Sox capitalized every safe blow. They scored three runs in the second, when Bill Werber lifted a home run over the left field wall, scoring Jimmy Foxx, who had singled, and Flit McNair, who had hit a two-bagger.

In the third, Dusty Cooke doubled and was promptly brought across the plate by Heinie Manush's two-bagger to right.

Except for those two innings, Phillips pitched hitless ball.

The victory stretched the Red Sox' second-place margin over the Tigers to four full games, and pulled Boston up to two and a half games back of the league-leading Yanks, who were rained out.

Senators Repulsed

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP).—The Cleveland Indians, slugging away behind the effective pitching of George Blaeholder, repulsed the fourth-place bid of the Washington Senators today by winning the final game of an abbreviated series, 10-2.

Blaeholder held the Griff men to six hits, and was on his way to his second straight shutout over the Washington team, when Cecil Travis hit a home run in the ninth. Buddy Lewis was on base at the time.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

CHICAGO, June 10 (AP).—A single by Ken O'Dea, with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth, drove across the two runs that gave the Cubs a 4-3 victory over Philadelphia today. The triumph gave the champions a clean sweep of the three-piece series and extended their victory streak to seven games.

Only 2,083 fans saw the game, which was played in an unseasonable chill.

Pirates Move Up

PITTSBURGH, June 10 (AP).—The Pirates took sole possession of second place in the National League today and pulled up to four games from the pace-setting Cardinals by winning their fifth straight game, a 6-3 triumph over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The win gave the Pirates a clean sweep of the four-game series and stretched the Brooklyn losing streak to seven.

With the New York Giants rained out in Cincinnati and the Cardinals stopped by wet grounds at home, the win for the Bucs broke the second-place deadlock between Pittsburgh and New York, and tightened up the one-two standings in the league.

CANADIAN TO OPPOSE GYPSY IN MAIN BOUT

Lou Plummer and Chief Chiwaki Will Headline Mat Card at Tillicum

Chief Chiwaki, newly-wed Gypsy grappler and self-styled "Terror of the Ring," will be seen in action Saturday evening at the Tillicum gymnasium in the main event of Promoter Fred Richardson's weekly wrestling programme.

A former pugilist who once hung a kayo punch on Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, Chief Chiwaki is a rugged grappler who stops at nothing to add to his string of victories. The Gypsy wrestler has a lot of trick all of his own, and will uncork some of these for the entertainment of Victoria fans.

As an opponent for the husky Chief Chiwaki the local impresario has booked Lou "Whattaman" Plummer, 249-pound Toronto boy. Plummer has scored two victories here in as many starts, and should make things exceptionally interesting for the Gypsy.

The Canadian is also an ex-fighter who has a technical kayo over Kingfish Levinsky to his credit, and will be able to take care of himself in his bout with Chief Chiwaki. With two men, who campaigned in the boxing game as opponents, Victoria followers of the mat game should witness plenty of excitement and thrills in the Plummer-Chiwaki match.

With the attractive main event booked, Promoter Richardson is looking around for two likely boys for the semi-windup bout. The usual local preliminary will open the card at 8:45 o'clock.

Profit-Taking at New York Mart Jumbles Prices

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP).—Profit-taking jumbled stock market prices today despite buying in scattered rail, utility, merchandise and specialty issues.

A dip in yesterday's strong American Telephone, hesitancy of the steels and a heavy tone displayed by the alcohol group helped to tether the list.

The relatively heavy turnover in low-priced utility stocks brought the day's volume up to 1,036,665 shares, largest since May 27 last. The Associated Press average of sixty issues ended with a net gain of .1 of a point at 62.2.

U.S. Steel reported May shipments ahead of April, which had been the best month since 1930, but the stock slipped 1-2 point to 61 5-8.

American Telephone yielded 2 at 168 1-2, after leading the market to higher ground yesterday.

Rail liens continued to stand forth as the favored group in the bond market. Volume totaled $10,952,000 par value, against $10,537,000 on Tuesday.

Some of the foreigns, notably the obligations of France and Poland, moved up sharply.

Bathurst Power and Paper Company LIMITED

Notable improvement has been taking place in the position of Bathurst Power and Paper Company Limited during the last two years. Still further progress is anticipated in 1936 and 1937 on the basis of the plans already devised and being put into effect by the management.

The operating position of the Company has changed materially in recent years from a producer of newsprint exclusively to a more diversified output including Fourdrinier Kraft board and other products. The ultimate capacity of the Company's Mills as presently planned will be as follows: Fourdrinier Kraft Liner Board and corrugating material 170 tons daily; Folding Pulpboard, Patent Coated Board, Boxboards Cylinder type 100 tons daily; Newsprint 70 tons daily.

PROPERTIES—The Company's properties are advantageously situated at tide-water on the Baie de Chaleur. In addition to mill and machinery which are maintained in first-class condition, the Company's timber holdings in Quebec and New Brunswick are estimated to contain over 10,000,000 cords of pulpwood, which is ample to supply all future requirements. The Company also owns and operates a hydro-electric plant with an installed capacity of 15,000 h.p., with other power sites capable of 35,000 additional horsepower.

EARNINGS—Net profit for year 1935 before depreciation and taxes was $327,977.00 against $123,024.00 for 1934 and $26,797.00 for 1933. Fixed assets at the end of 1935 are carried on the Company's books at $13,692,970.00.

INVESTMENTS—Current assets include Government Bonds and cash to the value of $1,392,887.00. Balance sheet as at December 31st, 1935, showed net working capital of $2,434,374.00, a gain of $283,500.00 over 1934. This is equivalent to $6.00 per share on the Class "A" Shares, while the combined cash and market value of investments represent about $3.50 per share.

DIVIDEND POSITION—Capital Stock consists of 400,000 shares of Class "A" no par value, and 300,000 shares of Class "B" no par value. The Class "A" shares are entitled to $2.00 non-cumulative annually. In any year this amount may be paid, further dividends must be shared equally by "A" and "B" alike until the "A" receive $4.00. Additional payment thereafter will accrue to the "B".

TASHOTA SHARES ARE BANNED FROM TRADING

TORONTO, June 10 (CP).—Shares of Tashota Goldfields, Limited, were suspended from trading by the management of the Toronto Stock Exchange today when it was learned that 15,000 shares had been sold to officers of the company in March at 5 cents a share without notice of the transaction being forwarded to the exchange. At the time the sales were made Tashota shares were selling above 40 cents on the Toronto market.

Informed of the suspension, Tashota officials decided to put the stock back in the treasury, and the exchange officials immediately lifted the ban on trading.

Leading Stocks Turn Softer at Close of Eastern Exchanges

MONTREAL, June 10 (CP).—In dull trading, listings on Montreal Stock Exchange turned lower today after two sessions of fractionally-higher levels.

Away from the general trend in the utility list were B.C. Power "B," Canada Northern Power and International Power, which gained from 1-4 to 3-8. Among the losers were B.C. Power "A" and Brazilian.

Noranda posted an advance of 1-4 to 58 1-4, but Hollinger and Consolidated Smelting were lower, and International Nickel steady. Papers eased.

TORONTO EXCHANGE

TORONTO, June 10 (CP).—The industrial market of the Toronto Exchange took its gains in small doses today, and was inclined to taper off further in the final phase. The liquor stocks turned heavy in the last few minutes.

Trade in Ford "A" was the day's feature. Announcement yesterday of a 75-cent dividend brought in good buying orders. The close at 22 3-4 left a net advance of 1 point.

Imperial, International Petroleum, Pantepec and McColl common closed down 1-8 to 1-4 each.

Distillers-Seagrams sold down 1 3-8 and Walkers common 1-2 point. C.P.R. lost 1-8. Smelters was off 1-4.

Steels, foods, utilities and prices were fairly steady. Crow's Nest sold at 55, a new high for the year and up 7 points.

TORONTO GOLDS ADVANCE AGAIN

Fair Gains Recorded Over Broad Front Among Junior Stocks

TORONTO, June 10 (CP).—The Toronto Mining Market plodded along on the upward trail today, led by the golds, and the close for the yellow metal group was at the highest price average boarded in recent years. The miscellaneous mines index advanced 3-4 of a point to 129.24.

McKenzie Red Lake closed 5 cents up at 1.90. Heavy buying put San Antonio up 10 cents to 2.30. Pickle Crow added 15 cents, Anglo-Huronian 15, and gains of 3 to 5 cents were boarded for Sylvanite, Ventures, Wright-Hargreaves, Mining Corporation, Gunnar and Buffalo-Ankerite. Pioneer lost 15, Teck-Hughes 10 and McIntyre 1-4.

WHEAT PRICES UP FRACTIONS

Futures Gain Slightly at Winnipeg in Sympathy With Other Markets

WINNIPEG, June 10 (CP). — Wheat prices were quietly firm on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. Net gains of 3-8 to 1-8 cent were registered.

Values held at levels above the previous close for most of a dull session. The July future finished at 77 1-4, October 77 3-4 and December 78 cents. Export sales were estimated to total 400,000 bushels.

Chicago closed little changed from its previous finish, while Liverpool, rallying from early losses, was unchanged to 5-8d higher. Buenos Aires was up fractionally.

Dealings in cash and coarse grains were uninteresting. Prices generally were firm with wheat.

HANDWRITING ON THE WALL

The individual or nation that cannot see or refuses to read the handwriting on the wall is blind to approaching misfortune, heedless of impending calamity.

This figure of speech is an allusion to the great feast of Belshazzar, King of Babylon, as narrated in the Old Testament, in the fifth chapter of the Book of Daniel.

In the midst of the Bacchanalian celebration "came forth fingers of a man's hand, and wrote over against the candlestick upon the plaister of the wall of the king's palace."

Terrified, the king sent for the astrologers who, however, were unable to decipher the inscription.

At the suggestion of the queen, Daniel was called in and interpreted the words as a prediction of the downfall of the Babylonian empire and its partition by the Medes and Persians.

"In that night was Belshazzar . . . slain."

MONTHLY RECORD FOR SHIPPING IS SET BY FRASER RIVER PORT

NEW WESTMINSTER, June 10 (?)—The port of New Westminster set an all-time monthly record during May for export tonnage and number of ships in port, it was announced today by the Harbor Board.

Forty-nine deep-sea ships sailed from here during the month with 96,517 tons of cargo, compared with May, 1935, the previous high month, when forty-six ships sailed with 68,711 tons.

In great attempts it is glorious even to fail.—Longinus.

Jane Dixon Says:

ATTENTION MAY BE ENCOURAGED; IT CANNOT BE FORCED

The vote is pretty evenly divided between those who like the round-up and those who do not like it.

To the No Voters—Please take into account the fact that our space is limited, and that the round-up affords opportunity to discuss a number of problems, all as pressing and as vital to those who present them as are the problems discussed singly and with editorial comment.

Our purpose is to do the most benefit we can in a given time and space.

Hence the round-up.

Disappointed—You believe you love a boy who is not interested in you. You've been waiting, hoping to catch his fancy, to engage his attention. What can you do about it? You can be friendly with the boy. You can convey to him without being obvious about it, your preference for him. Such messages are given in a warm smile, the flash of an eye, a gesture of approval, a sincere regard and interest. Attention may be encouraged; it cannot be forced.

J.D.: Because you think you are in love you drive many miles along dangerous roads, sliding into ditches, imperiling life and limb, to call on the young woman who gives you a feeling of contentment and of well-being. An orphan, you've educated yourself, gone into debt to equip yourself for advancement. Now you want to marry the girl you love and have the home you were denied as a child, but wonder, with only a temporary job, if you dare take the chance. You sound to me like a substantial young man who will win through, so why not explain the situation to the girl and find whether or not she would like to take the chance with you?

Phil: If the young woman cares for you I am certain she would find time to answer your letters. You are in college, preparing to live a full and useful life. You can't make the most of your preparatory opportunities if you clutter up your curriculum with problematical love. When you go home for your vacation be friendly, but casual, with the young woman who has made false protestations of love. A young man embarking on a career cannot afford to centre his thoughts or his affections on "phonies."

J.F.F.: You and the girl have made a very wise decision—to wait until she completes her schooling before you marry. But it appears that she is supplying a majority of the wisdom. She is content to be with you and to make plans for your future together. She is working for the success of that future. A year and a half is such a short time for two younglings in love, as you are, to wait. Try to remember that the girl is fitting herself to bring intelligence and a trained understanding to your union. Why should you complicate your life with a broken engagement when what you want is the girl you love and the home an educated and a thoughtful woman can make for you?

A Note From "Experience" to "Disappointed Wife": "If your husband does not care for you, better to go away from him. However, consider this: The law does not yield much to a woman who leaves her home. You have your child, and you must feel that you have helped earn your home, that you have a definite interest in your home. If your share cannot be arranged satisfactorily, stay where you are. Make the most of what you have. I beg of you, as one who knows, do not allow this unhappy experience to spoil your life. It would make me happy to know I'd helped another disillusioned wife through my experience. Find new interests, cultivate your friends, enjoy your child. Often it is easier to make happiness out of what we have than it is to find it in what we think we can get."

RATES FOR CLASSIFIED OR WANT ADVERTISEMENTS

One and one-half cents a word each insertion, nine cents a word a week, with a minimum of ten words, cash with order. No advertisement accepted for less than twenty-five cents.

Death and Funeral Notices, $1.50, first insertion; $1.00 for each additional insertion. Marriages, Cards of Thanks and In Memoriam Notices, $1.50 per insertion.

Birth Notices, $1.00 per insertion.

Business or Professional Cards of two lines or under, $2.50 per month. Additional space at $1.25 per line per month.

Advertisers who desire may have replies addressed to a Box at The Colonist and forwarded to their private address. A charge of ten cents is made for mailing replies. In this case add three words ("Box .... Colonist") to the count for the number of words.

Out-of-town readers of our advertisements ask advertisers to give address as well as phone numbers, as it is not always possible to communicate through the phone.

Any claim for rebate on account of errors or omissions must be made within thirty days from the date of the same, otherwise the claim will not be allowed.

The Colonist will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one issue.

The Colonist service is available every day from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., excepting Sunday. Just call Empire 4114.

To insure insertion, Classified Ads should reach The Colonist before 10 p.m. on the day previous to publication.

Classified Ads for The Sunday Colonist will be accepted up to 10 p.m. on Saturdays.

2 DEATHS

ROBB—At the Royal Jubilee Hospital on Tuesday, June 9, John Wesley Robb, aged fifty-five years, of 284 Beechwood Avenue, Victoria. The late Mr. Robb was born in Paisley, Bruce County, Ontario, and had resided in this city for the past two months, coming from Tisdale, Saskatchewan, where he had been resident for many years. He is mourned by his widow, two daughters, Misses Beulah and Evelyn, of Saskatchewan, also four sisters in Ontario.
The remains are resting at McCall Bros.' Funeral Home pending funeral arrangements, which will be announced upon arrival of his daughters from Saskatchewan.

MECREDY—At the Jubilee Hospital on June 7, 1936, Christine Mecredy, widow of Thomas Tighe Mecredy, of Alkazar Apartments, aged sixty-six years, born in Dublin, Ireland, and had been living in this city for ten years. She is survived by three sons, Howard Gordon Mecredy, in Richmond Hill, Ont., Thomas Tighe Mecredy, Vancouver, and Andrew David Mecredy, in Victoria; one daughter, Mrs. K. Fairbairn, Victoria; two sisters in England, and one sister in Milwaukee, U.S.A., and eight grandchildren.
The remains are resting in Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, from where the funeral will be held today (Thursday, June 11), at 2 p.m., Very Rev. C. S. Quainton, Dean of Columbia, officiating. Interment in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

DOWDS—On June 10, at St. Joseph's Hospital, the death occurred of Mrs. Ann Maria Tanner Dowds, aged seventy-four years, born in Kirkcaldy, Scotland, and a resident of this city for the past twenty-five years, late residence, Field Apartments. The late Mrs. Dowds is survived by one son, James C. Dowds, 3206 Shelbourne Street, one sister-in-law, Mrs. J. C. Motion, two nieces, Mrs. D. Thomson and Miss Margaret Motion, also one nephew, George Motion, all of Victoria; a brother, Mr. George Motion, in Kirkcaldy, and a sister, Mrs. Isabell Robinson, in London, England.
The funeral will take place on Friday, June 12, at 3:30 o'clock, from the chapel of the Sands Mortuary, Ltd. Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson will officiate and the remains will be laid at rest in the Colwood Burial Park.

KERMODE—At St. Joseph's Hospital on June 8, 1936, Margaret Allan, beloved wife of Francis Kermode, of Gordon Head Road, Saanich, in her fifty-eighth year; born in Petitcodiac, New Brunswick, and had been residing here for thirty-six years. She is survived by, besides her husband, one son, Edward Gordon Kermode, and one daughter, Margaret Elizabeth Kermode; her mother, Mrs. Mary C. Fowler, Vancouver; six sisters, Mrs. George Pittendrigh, Mrs. F. M. Chapman, Miss Mary Fowler and Mrs. A. W. Lewis, all in Vancouver; Mrs. Fred Brake, Victoria, and Mrs. E. B. Harmen, Toronto; and two brothers, George L. and Hector A. Fowler, both in Vancouver.
The funeral will be held from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel on Thursday, June 11, at 3:15 p.m., Rev. Dr. Clem Davies officiating. Interment in the family plot in Royal Oak Burial Park.

HOWARD—Suddenly at the family residence, 3178 Orillia Street, on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. William Jost Howard, B.A., B.D. The late Mr. Howard was born in Cornwall, Prince Edward Island, and had been a resident of this city for the past six years. He graduated from Mount Allison University, Sackville, New Brunswick, in 1888, and much of his early ministry was served in the Maritime Provinces, and came to Fort Saskatchewan, Alberta, in 1908, after which he served in the following charges in Alberta: Airdrie, Pine Creek, New Norway and Forestburg, from where he came to Victoria. He is mourned by his widow, one son, Claude, of 1064 Summit Avenue, Victoria, and two grandchildren; also three brothers, Rev. Benjamin Howard, of the United Church, Evansburg, Alberta, Frank T. Howard, of Prince Edward Island, and Rev. Samuel Howard, D.D., of 2938 Orillia Street, and three sisters, Mrs. H. Weeks, of Springfield, P.E.I., Mrs. T. Hinton, of Summerside, P.E.I., and Mrs. A. Stetson, of Fort Saskatchewan, Alberta.
The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon from McCall Bros.' Funeral Home, at 3 o'clock. Interment will be made in Colwood Burial Park.

RITCH—On June 8, at St. Joseph's Hospital, the death occurred of Daisy Ethel Ritch, beloved wife of Mr. G. R. Ritch, of 236 Richmond Avenue, aged thirty-eight years, born in Berkshire, England. She is survived by, besides her husband, two sons, George and Beverly Gilbert, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Andrews, 1930 Haultain Street; one brother, Walter Andrews, 1807 Chandler Avenue, and one sister, Mrs. J. P. Holmes, Gordon Head.
The funeral will take place on Friday, June 12, at 2 o'clock, from the chapel of the Sands Mortuary, Ltd., Rev. F. W. Weaver officiating. The remains will be laid at rest in the Colwood Burial Park.

DIAMOND "S" XI CAPTURES SHIELD FINAL

Brown's Goal Gives Spencers 1-0 Victory Over James Bay Wanderers

Bobby Brown's goal, nine minutes before the final whistle, gave Spencers a 1-0 victory over the James Bay Wanderers and possession of the McKay Shield, yesterday afternoon, at the Royal Athletic Park.

Charlie Saddler, guarding the hemp for the Wanderers, had turned aside many shots, all of them hotter and faster than Brown's, during the afternoon, only to have a high lob from the right lane beat him for the lone tally of the match. Saddler's work between the sticks and the splendid defence put up by George Barnes and Bob White, Wanderers' fullbacks, were the bright features of a somewhat ragged exhibition.

Spencers had the better of the play most of the way, and in the second half in particular, literally swarmed down on the Wanderers' goal. Saddler, in the net, was kept as busy as a cat on hot bricks, while the framework seemed to have a charmed existence.

Wanderers had a number of scoring opportunities, but their forwards lacked cohesion and never really combined properly during the match. Their best efforts were made by Ed Ball in the first half, and Gelling in the final canto.

The victory climaxed a great season for the Diamond "S" aggregation, and added the McKay Shield to their collection of silverware. They had previously lifted the Pendray Cup, symbolic of the league title, and the Rennie & Taylor Trophy.

The clubs battled through eighty-one minutes of play without a score, and just when the small crowd of fans was preparing for overtime, Bobby Brown came through with the shot that spelled victory for the Diamond "S" aggregation.

After an almost continuous attack on the Wanderers' goal, during which Saddler was playing brilliant ball, Brown sneaked a high lob over his head and the ball landed in the net.

The James Bay boys went back from the kick-off, and only the smart work of Norm Stewartson prevented them from netting the equalizer. T. Belford drove towards the goal and Les Gelling met the rebound from Belford's shot and forced Spencers' goalie to his knees to save. It was a beautiful shot, in fact the best of the game, and a brilliant save by the goalie.

Wanderers plugged away gamely in the dying minutes, but the sound of the whistle found them still on the short end of a 1-0 score.

Shrimpton refereed, and the teams were:

Spencers — Stewartson, Munro, Cann, L. Bradley, Moir, R. Bradley, Brown, Speller, Clarke, Collins and Stewart.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Joe Otter Takes Grandfather Frog's Advice

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Who makes an enemy a friend
To fear and worry puts an end.

It was so big and so fat that it made Little Joe's mouth water

Little Joe Otter found this out when he took Grandfather Frog's advice. He wouldn't have admitted that he was afraid of Buster Bear. No one ever likes to admit being afraid, least of all Little Joe Otter. And, really, Little Joe has a great deal of courage. There are very few of the little people of the Green Forest or the Green Meadows who would willingly quarrel with little Joe Otter, for Little Joe is a great fighter when he has to fight. As for all those who live in or along the Laughing Brook, or in the Smiling Pool, they let Little Joe have his own way in everything.

Now, having your own way too much is a bad thing. It is apt to make one selfish, thoughtless of other people, and very hard to get along with. Little Joe Otter had his way too much. Grandfather Frog knew it, and shook his head very soberly when Little Joe had been disrespectful to him. "Too bad. Too bad. Too bad. Chugarum! It is too bad that such a fine young fellow as Little Joe Otter should spoil a good disposition by such selfish heedlessness. Too bad," said he.

So, though he didn't let on that it was so, Grandfather Frog really was delighted when he heard how Buster Bear had been too smart for Little Joe Otter. It tickled him so that he had hard work to keep a straight face. But he did, and was as grave and solemn as you please as he advised Little Joe always to make friends with anyone who was bigger and stronger and smarter than he. That was good common sense advice, but Little Joe just sniffed and went off declaring that he would get even with Buster Bear yet. Now, Little Joe is good natured and full of fun, as a rule, and after he had reached home and his temper had cooled off a little, he began to see the joke on himself—how, when he had worked so hard to frighten the fish in the little pools of the Laughing Brook so that Buster Bear should not catch any, he had all the time been driving them right into Buster's paws. By and by he grinned. It was a little sheepish grin at first, but at last it grew into a laugh. "I believe," said Little Joe, as he wiped the tears of laughter from his eyes, "that Grandfather Frog is right, and that the best thing I can do is to make friends with Buster Bear. I'll try it tomorrow morning."

So, very early the next morning, Little Joe Otter went to the best fishing pool he knew of on the Laughing Brook, and there he caught the biggest trout he could find. It was so big and fat that it made Little Joe's mouth water, for you know fat trout are his favorite food. But he didn't take so much as one bite. Instead, he carefully laid it on an old log where Buster Bear would be sure to see it if he should come along that way. Then he hid near by where he could watch. Buster was late that morning. It seemed to Little Joe that he never would come. Once he nearly lost the fish. He had turned his head for just a minute, and when he looked back again the trout was nowhere to be seen. Buster couldn't have stolen up and taken it, because such a big fellow couldn't possibly have gotten out of sight again.

Little Joe darted over to the log and looked on the other side. There was the fat trout, and there also was Little Joe's smallest cousin, Shadow the Weasel, who is a great thief and altogether bad. Little Joe sprang at him angrily, but Shadow was too quick, and darted away. Little Joe put the fish back on the log and waited. This time he didn't take his eyes off it. At last, when he was almost ready to give up, he saw Buster Bear shuffling along toward the Laughing Brook. Suddenly Buster stopped and sniffed. One of the Merry Little Breezes had carried the scent of that fat trout over to him. Then he came straight over to where the fish lay, his nose wrinkling and his eyes twinkling with pleasure.

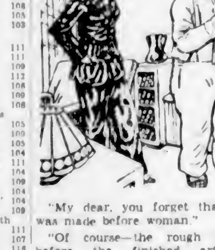

"Now, I wonder who was so thoughtful as to leave this fine breakfast ready for me?" said he out loud.

"Me," said Little Joe Otter, in a rather faint voice. "I caught it especially for you."

"Thank you," replied Buster, and his eyes twinkled more than ever. "I think we are going to be friends."

"I—hope so," replied Little Joe, "and that you will forget the tricks I played on you."

PAID VISIT TO GRAVES OF WAR

Harold Diggon Tells Kiwanians of His Tour Through Battlefields of Europe

Members of the Kiwanis Club listened to a rather unusual address given Tuesday by Harold Diggon, who recently returned from a visit to Great Britain and to the war sections of the continent. Dealing with the subject of the battle-torn areas of France and Belgium, the speaker described it as a story of a Springtime journey by motor car, covering much of the British battle-front of the Somme in the Great War—200 miles of immortality. A journey with a heart-break in every mile of it; a journey that haunts my memory with blurred visions of white cemeteries, and black cemeteries, and grey cemeteries.

"Of acres and acres of tombstones and crosses, stretching sometimes in unbroken lines just as far as the eye can see."

"In the cemetery-strewn country-side of Ypres, of Arras, and the Somme, the horror of it comes flooding back, its futility, the madness of the wastage of life," said Mr. Diggon.

THE SILENT CITIES

Among the silent cities of the dead, Mr. Diggon described the Canadian cemetery at St. Julien, where "lie some thousands of Canadian dead."

"It was this spot where 2,000 Canadians dropped at the first unexpected cloud of gas sent over from the enemy lines," said the speaker. "The monument erected here to their memory is as beautiful in design as it is simple and stately. Set amidst well-kept lawns, interspersed with shrubs and trees imported from Canada, this miniature park made colorful by purple heather, aubretia and arabis, is perhaps the most impressive of any of the graveyards I visited."

AROUND YPRES

Mr. Diggon described the journey made through this country. He said that the Imperial War Graves Commission issued a map containing a list of 2,500 cemeteries in that section. Among these were some with as many as 12,000 British graves with others small in comparison containing only about 100 graves, "tucked away in the woodlands." Around Ypres are 185 cemeteries containing 101,000 British graves and 174 cemeteries containing 79,000 German graves.

The speaker gave a short resume of his tour of London and other parts of England. The splendid way in which England was recovering her position and carrying on was described. In humorous manner Mr. Diggon told of the differences encountered in London with what existed here. "But London is the same old London," said the speaker. "Irrespective of the changes that have taken place," he said.

PERFORMERS WILL HOLD REHEARSAL

Tourist Trade Development Association to Arrange Preview Of Show Boat Talent

Amateur entertainers who wish to appear in Show Boat concerts this season will hold a rehearsal before the end of the week, Tourist Trade Development Association officials announced yesterday. A series of sixteen amateur nights will be held, commencing June 15.

Last year, prizes in the final performances on the Show Boat were donated by business firms, unsolicited, and the Tourist Trade Development Association reported some criticism from those who were not given an opportunity to donate to the prize list. Letters have been mailed to 168 firms inviting them to be represented on the list.

The association has offered to designate any one night as belonging to, and sponsored by the firm donating six prizes necessary for an amateur performance. The total value would be $20. Ninety-six prizes will be required for the series of sixteen concerts.

In order to encourage the amateurs, Jameson Electric, Ltd., has donated a $100 radio, Kelway's Cafe provided $25 in cash, and the Standard Furniture Company turned in a merchandise scrip valued at $25.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

CANCER IS CURABLE THOUGH THE CAUSE IS UNKNOWN

When we read that cancer is increasing and that its cause is still unknown, it is naturally very discouraging, especially when we know that in every civilized country scientists are trying to find the cause and cure of cancer.

However, this does not mean that cancer cannot be cured. At a recent medical meeting many thousands of cases of cancer which had actually and permanently been cured were put on record. The methods of cure have up to the present been by means of surgery, radium or X-rays.

The reason more, if not all, patients are not cured is due to the fact that they wait too long before consulting their doctors. Almost without exception, in those who were cured, the cancer had been present only a short time. The sooner the treatment is given the better are the final results. In breast cancer, for example, 70 per cent of the patients can be cured if operation is performed in the early stage, and only 4 per cent if the patient has delayed applying for treatment.

It must be admitted that cancer comes so quietly, in such an innocent form—a simple lump, a sore or non-healing sore—that the patient is not apt to treat it seriously. Professor George Gellhorn, of Washington University School of Medicine in Hygeia, points out that under normal conditions all the cells of the body live in a well-ordered arrangement, no cell trying to crowd the next cell, and no group or variety of cells growing faster than any other group and thereby disturbing the harmony of all the cells.

"Sometimes, however, and for no reason, some of these tiny cells go on a rampage, they multiply and develop much faster than any of the surrounding cells; they spread in every direction and destroy any cells that may be in their way. Soon they form little lumps in the body, but as their growth never stops the little lump develops into a considerable mass. When some of the cells force their way into the blood stream they may be carried to a distant part of the body and start the same process of growth and destruction."

The "danger" signals by which cancer may be recognized early are: (a) A sore anywhere on the body which shows no tendency to heal within a week; (b) any abnormal thickening or swelling which the patient may see or feel; (c) continuous indigestion; (d) blood in the urine, or bleeding from other organs.

Remember, "there is never any pain in the early stages when cancer is still curable."

Motor Club Official Commends Police for Holding Safety Drive

"Commending the Victoria Police Department on its safety drive now being held, T. J. Goodlake, secretary of the Victoria Automobile Club, yesterday said constables were carrying out their duties efficiently and well. Car brakes are being tested in various parts of the city also.

Mr. Goodlake praised the new red cards issued by Chief Thomas Heatley. These are being handed to drivers of automobiles operating with one or no lights, lights out of focus, and no rear light. First infraction of this kind brings a warning and a duplicate card is put on file at headquarters. A second offence results in prosecution.

The Automobile Club, some time ago, went on record condemning the carelessness of motorists driving with only one headlight, the secretary said.

When the most insignificant person tells us we are in error, we should listen, and examine ourselves, and see if it is so. To believe it possible we may be in error, is the first step toward getting out of it.
